DEAL GIVES PROOF OF GLENDALE GROWTH

1407 New Stations Added to Local Exchange So Far This Year, His Report

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.
What do the telephones tell about Glendale's growth? Ask Fred Deal, he knows. He is the manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company's Glendale district, with headquarters here. And, speaking for the Glendale exchange alone there has been more than a 300 per cent gain in the number of stations since January, 1920.

But more remarkable is the growth of the telephone business during the present year. You will pardon a few figures proudly given to sustain the assertion that Glendale is "the fastest growing city in America."

256 Orders Waiting
On January 1, 1924, there were 5529 subscribers listed by the Glendale exchange. On July 1, there were 6314, and on August 15, right up to date, there are 6680 homes, stores and offices being served. That is not all, however, for there are 256 orders waiting to be filled.

"Glendale is growing faster than ever," according to Mr. Deal, "and the telephone company is working night and day to complete its $90,000 building and ex-

DOUBTS IF MARS WILL TALK TO US

Captain T. J. J. See of Naval Observatory Says Planet Likely Inhabited

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.
MARE ISLAND, Cal., Aug. 21.—Mars is inhabited but the chances of communication between the earth and the distant planet, which is now being closely observed by scientists on its nearest visit in 200 years, are slim.

These are the conclusions of Captain T. J. J. See, professor of mathematics, U. S. N., and government astronomer at the Naval Observatory here.

"The observations of astronomers since 1638 have shown Mars rotates in 24 hours, 35 minutes and 22.67 seconds," said Astronomer See. "that the obliquity of Mars' ecliptic is about 28 degrees, so that the seasons on our neighboring planet are about the same as here, though the year is nearly twice as long—687 days."

Has Polar Caps
"Mars has polar caps of ice and snow, which melt in advance of the Martian summer and build up with the return of the Martian winter. And wonderful to relate, we can see the clouds floating in the atmosphere of Mars. The clouds have been distinctly photographed."

"If Mars has seasons, day and night, clouds, ice and snow and a sunlight as favorable as that in the plateau of Tibet, the planet certainly is inhabitable. Therefore, it is inhabited by vegetable and animal life of some kind but we cannot define the kind of life which exists on Mars."

"Mars and Venus are both habitable, besides our earth. And if we do not admit that such worlds are inhabited, we are compelled to hold that the life upon our earth is an accident and a mistake, existing in violation of the general laws of nature."

But signalling Mars is another matter, according to Captain See. "We can send the signal," he declared, "but the chance of an answer is slight because we could not have answered such a signal ourselves thirty years ago, since radio telegraphy was not yet invented. It is unlikely that the Martians could answer us, even if we signalled them for a thousand years."

Bachelor Officers In Navy to Get Pay for Dependents

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Hundreds of bachelor officers of the United States navy will at once receive back pay aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, previously withheld from them because of Controller General McCarl's ruling concerning dependent mothers' allowances, as a result of a ruling of Secretary of the Navy Willbur received here today by radio.

Secretary Willbur expressed the opinion that in accordance with a supreme court ruling the salaries of the navy officers may not be completely withheld arbitrarily to effect claims of the government. As a result the navy paymasters were instructed to at once pay the bachelor officers, whose salaries previously had been completely held up by the controller general, eighty per cent of the amount due them.

NAMES LEGION TO AID DEFENSE DAY

Mayor Issues Proclamation Urging Glendalians to Show Loyalty

Mayor Spencer Robinson, in a proclamation signed today, names Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, to take complete charge of plans for National Defense day, September 12. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the president of the United States has approved the plans of the secretary of war to set aside Friday, September 12, 1924, as National Defense day, and

"Whereas, the World war demonstrated that the lack of preparedness and training were the direct cause of colonial waste in both lives and material, and

"Whereas, the reduction of standing army and armament can only be accomplished by perfecting the organized reserves, whereby the civilian population, which is the backbone of national defense, can be organized and equipped without waste of time or material, and

"Whereas, September 12 is the sixth anniversary of the battle of St. Mihiel, the first major operation in the World war which was composed entirely of American troops, and this day will be observed in every military post and in practically every city and town in the United States, which event will provide instruction for persons in the military service and will also afford an opportunity for the regular army, national guard, organized reserves, veterans' societies and other military and citizens' organizations to conduct parades, programs and a mobilization test of the organized reserves, for the purpose of testing the plans which have already been made for the mobilization of such units and to familiarize the officers and men with the duties with which they would be charged in the event that their organizations were actually mobilized in time of war."

"Now, therefore, I, Spencer Robinson, as mayor of the city of Glendale, do hereby proclaim Friday, September 12, 1924, as a day set aside in the city of Glendale, to demonstrate a spirit of loyalty and co-operation between the civilian population and civic bodies, and those who are devoting their energies toward the formation of a national defense system."

"As the American Legion is the one official organization of those who served during the World War and those who suffered most from our lack of adequate preparedness; I hereby appoint Post No. 127, American Legion, which is the Glendale unit of that body, to take complete charge of the program and to arrange such parades and ceremonies as it deems fit. The Legion will have the hearty support and co-operation of the officials of this city, and I call upon each and every citizen to lend the Legion the same hearty support and co-operation."

(Signed)
SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of the City of Glendale.

TO ASSIST VETERANS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—In an effort to assist in taking of applications for world war veterans' insurance, Chief of Police Heath announced today the finger print bureau of the department will be thrown open to former soldiers.

CHINA CIVIL WAR PERILS SHANGHAI

Five Provinces Involved as Both Sides Rush Troops To Open Battle

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21.—Chinese sources tonight declared an outbreak of war between the provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsu and involving five provinces is imminent hourly.

The conflict will center in the Shanghai district located in Kiangsu province, and the center of the largest foreign settlement in China.

Both sides are rushing troops to the vicinity of Shanghai.

To Bombard Woosung
Naval detachments are reported en route from Foo-Chow and Nanking to bombard the Woosung forts at the mouth of the Yangtze river.

Chinese financial circles are panic-stricken. Four big native banks suspended today, and others are verging on bankruptcy.

International settlement authorities in whose keeping are the lives of foreigners tonight cancelled all police leaves and made preparations for the defense of the settlement in the event of an outbreak.

William J. Bryan Hurt When Auto Overturns
MATTOON, Ill., Aug. 21.—William J. Bryan was slightly injured today when an automobile in which he was coming here to address a Chautauqua meeting overturned near Tuscola, Ill.

One of his legs was injured so that he could not stand on it for long periods, but physicians said that no bones were broken and the injury was not serious.

After the accident, Bryan was brought here in another automobile and prepared to deliver his address.

Believes Son Slain By Leopold and Loeb
PARIS, Ill., Aug. 21.—Joseph Tracy, father of Froman Tracy, University of Chicago student, whose body was found on the school campus November 22 of last year, left today for Chicago, where he will confer with State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe of Cook county. Mr. Tracy has secured information which he says leads him to believe that it was Leopold and Loeb who murdered his son.

FIRES AT BEACH
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Two spectacular fires, one in Long Beach and another in San Pedro, caused damage estimated at more than $50,000 today. In Long Beach five firemen were overcome in a blaze which destroyed the bungalow grocery with a $25,000 loss. A combination restaurant and grocery store in San Pedro was burned at a loss of more than $15,000.

LATEST NEWS

MAN KILLED AS STORM WRECKS TOWNS

HURON, S. D., Aug. 21.—Early storm reports reaching here this afternoon tell of a man being killed and heavy damage done in a strip of country fifteen miles east of here. The town of Yale is said to be virtually destroyed and Cavour and Iroquois are reported as badly wrecked. Many in the latter two towns are said to be injured and local hospitals have received calls for doctors and nurses. All wires are out in the vicinity.

SWOLLEN RIVER FLOODS THREE TOWNS

GALESBURG, Ill., Aug. 21.—The town of Dahinda, near here, was threatened with annihilation today as the waters of Spoon river, transformed into a raging torrent by thirty-six hours of driving rain, overflowed its banks and covered the entire town with ten feet of water. London Mills, a neighboring town, also was flooded and Maquon threatened as the waters continued to rise.

BADGE BANDIT STRUCK BY WITNESS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—A near riot was precipitated in court here today when James Wilson, state witness, left the witness stand and as he passed Harry Dunlap, notorious badge bandit, struck Dunlap a smashing blow in the face. Dunlap jumped to his feet, struck back, and the pair battled with the courtroom in an uproar until deputy sheriffs finally separated the men.

FOUR KILLED, TRUCK HIT BY TRAIN

Unable to Learn Number of Injured in New Jersey Crossing Accident

CRANFORD, N. J., Aug. 21.—At least four persons were killed here today when train No. 604, fast Philadelphia to Jersey City express of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, struck a truck shortly before noon.

Four bodies were sent to the city morgue in Elizabeth, N. J. Complete identification was not possible, although railroad rescue crews reported that one was a Harry Thompson, or Compton, of Plainfield, N. J., driver of the truck, and another Luther Martin of South Fontaine, Pa., fireman of the express.

Injured Unknown
How many were injured could not be ascertained definitely, as the victims were rushed to Elizabeth, Plainfield and Westfield. Seven persons were treated in the Elizabeth hospital and sent home.

Another of the bodies at the morgue was thought to be that of William Kiely, a checker on the train.

Engineer Killed as Flyer Is Derailed
MITCHELL, Ind., Aug. 21.—John Donnell, engineer, was killed, and Lee Simmons, fireman, was fatally injured when a fast east-bound Baltimore and Ohio train from St. Louis to Cincinnati struck a derail one mile and a half east of here today.

Stork Leaves Baby Boy With Princess Mary
GOLDSBOROUGH, England, Aug. 21.—Princess Mary, wife of Viscount Lascelles, gave birth today to a son. Both mother and baby were reported "doing well."

There was some disappointment on the part of the mother, for she had hoped for a daughter. The queen was not present when the infant was born. Her majesty left some crocheted garments for the baby, worked by her own hands.

Oil Prices Reduced 15 Cents Per Barrel
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Reductions of 15 cents a barrel in the prices of New York transit oil and Bradford district oils were announced by the Joseph Seep purchasing agency today. The cut will rate both grades at $2.85 a barrel.

SEEK BANDIT QUEEN
LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 21.—A "bandit queen" who sits calmly in an automobile while her henchmen work, is reported operating here. Ray A. Carter reported to police today he was robbed of $30 and a watch by four motor bandits, chief of whom was a woman, who directed operations.

Legion Post Host to Civil War Veterans
Rev. C. R. Norton, R. N. Taylor and C. H. Clark, Civil War veterans of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., were speakers last night at the meeting of Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, American Legion, in the community building at Sparr Heights. Members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. were special guests of the Legionnaires.

During the meeting E. E. McWain, adjutant of the Glendale post, gave a report of the Santa Cruz convention.

An American flag was presented to Montrose Boy Scouts, troop 1, sponsored by the Verdugo Hills post. Commander E. L. Sullivan made the presentation. The next meeting of the post will be September 3.

Six Escape Death In Early Morning Blaze
SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Aug. 21.—Half a dozen tenants of the McClellan building fled in night clothes early this morning, several of them barely escaping with their lives, as flames roared through the frame structure, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Kid McCoy Seeking Religion's Solace In Bible Message

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—"Kid" McCoy, held here in jail for the murder of his sweetheart, Teresa Mors, turned today to religion for solace.

He asked for a Bible and the writings of Mary Baker Eddy.

"The 'Kid' talked a great deal today about religion and the future life," his guards said.

McCoy was said by the alienists who examined him to be a student of spiritualism. Prosecution alienists questioned the former ring idol regarding his ideas of the "spirit world."

DENIES INSANITY DEFENSE OF M'COY

Ex-Pugilist's Chief Counsel Lays Plans for Trial; To Claim Suicide

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—"Not guilty." That will be the plea of "Kid" McCoy when he goes on trial here for the murder of his wealthy sweetheart, Mrs. Teresa Mors, beautiful six-day divorcee.

Denying that it is planned to have McCoy plead guilty and then offer evidence of alleged insanity as a mitigating circumstance to save his life, Judge E. L. Davin, chief of McCoy's counsel, said today the former pugilist would neither plead insanity nor guilty.

"McCoy's only statement, made a few minutes after he was arrested—that Mrs. Mors killed herself—will form the basis of the defense," said Davin. "At the same time we will show the former pugilist is mentally irresponsible, but not insane."

Body to New York
Davin said one of the features of the defense will be testimony as to the former ring idol's mental condition as the result of his boxing career, including experts' testimony as to the effect on the brain of head punches delivered by pugilists.

Increased in the most elaborate casket her former husband could find in Los Angeles, Mrs. Teresa Mors' body was sent today to New York city for burial.

Aims of Rotary Luncheon Topic
Business Methods Fostered By Principles Looking To World Growth

Business methods was the subject considered at this afternoon's luncheon of the Glendale Rotary club in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Chairman William Hunter of the business methods committee, addressing his fellow members after President J. Herbert Smith had dispensed with routine business and introduction of visitors.

"Rotary is non-political, non-sectarian, not secret, not selfish in its aims," said Mr. Hunter in the course of his remarks. "Rotary is a permanent contribution to the economic and social development of the world."

The speaker pointed out the six points of Rotary fostering the ideals of service, encouraging high ethical standards and promoting good-will and fellowship. These principles, he declared, are making possible the early realization of world peace.

New Secretary Talks
Howard I. Wood, recently appointed secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was the guest of George B. Karr and he was called upon for a few timely remarks regarding the chamber's work. Judge Arthur Keetch of the Los Angeles county superior court, was the guest of Clarence Kaighin and he also spoke. Dan Kelly introduced Sam Mills as his guest.

President Smith announced that he would appoint a committee next week to arrange for a Fathers' and Sons' luncheon and another committee for a Rotary-Ann meeting. J. I. Vernette, chairman of the picnic committee, announced a full program for another picnic at Brookside park next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The following visiting Rotarians were in attendance: Ray Crittenden of Pomona, who led the singing of two songs; S. Harry Robertson of Phoenix, Ariz.; Lewis Grimm of Franklin, Pa.; Elmer Daniels of Calverton; Everett L. Smith of San Luis Obispo; E. W. Cuff of Brawley; Sam Constantine, Bayard Byrne and William McIntyre of Los Angeles.

RETELL TALE OF YOUTH'S MURDER

Leopold and Loeb Squirm as Attorney Asks Death Penalty In Case

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
CRIMINAL COURT, CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb were led back over the long, long trail they took in conceiving and executing the ingenious plot by which Bobby Franks was murdered.

They were led by Joseph P. Savage, assistant state's attorney, and he was not a kindly guide. The state's attorney lived up to his name as he cried for the death penalty as the only punishment at all comparable to the heinousness of their crime.

Dramatic Twist
The full story of the Franks murder has been re-told in Judge Caverly's courtroom many times during the five weeks of the trial; more than a hundred witnesses have aided in piecing it together, but Savage gave it a dramatic twist today that held a crowded courtroom of spectators straight in their seats, and made "Dick" and "Babe" squirm uncomfortably.

The drama again proved too tense for Jacob Franks, father of Bobby.

Laughter Quieted
Savage sprayed the young collegians with the hose of his invective and exhortation. He larded it with "cowardice," "murders," "fiends," and "abandoned and malignant hearts," and the boys squirmed under his castigation.

For two hours this morning Savage talked continuously, and

WATERMELON AND LITHIN' DON'T MIX

Georgia Bootleggers of Corn Liquor Find Nemesis In Fruit From Field

By MILLARD FERGUSON
Special Correspondent, The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

ATLANTA, Aug. 21.—In the watermelon belt down south the police are almost out of a job and the bootleggers are on the verge of starvation. All because watermelons and corn liquor won't mix.

Unless you have a three ply, cast iron stomach, you can't eat the red meat of a melon and wash it down with the white lightning brewed up in the Georgia mountains. Watermelons and liquor together are worse than poison.

At the same time, there is nothing that appeals to the southern palate more than watermelons and in the case of a negro this hankering assumes the degree of a passion. As a consequence, everybody has quit drinking during the watermelon season and taken to eating "Georgia Rattlesnakes," "Tom Watsons" and other famous varieties of the melon patch.

Jails Are Empty
With everybody always and constantly sober, nobody breaks the law, the jails are empty. Half the police could take a vacation and never be missed. The last few Saturday nights at the police station in Atlanta have been as orderly as a prayer meeting.

The greatest sufferer of all, however, is the poor, hard working bootlegger. During the best seasons good Georgia corn liquor brings $6 to $8 a gallon and sells at home can double run or "slightly aged" corn be bought for less than $5. Now with the whole south eating watermelons, corn of the very best grade has reached the amazing level of $2.30 in the country districts and $3.50 in Atlanta. The bootleggers are thinking of asking congress to do something about it.

Die From Mixture
When alcohol touches the pulp of a watermelon it seems to change that juicy red meat into a substance like India rubber. "The melon pulp just curls up and popples," said an interne at Grady hospital, where all the liquor poisoning cases are taken. The hospital records show only a few instances of people who have died from mixing melons and liquor, but the number who have been tied into a bow-knot is quite large.

This fact being generally known the demijohn has been corked until the watermelon season is over. Meantime, the policemen wonder if an old-fashioned murder will ever happen again and the bootleggers ask themselves if it would not be better to go back to bar-baring.

Santa Barbara Woman Found Dead In Omaha
OMAHA, Aug. 21.—The body of Miss Catherine Ford, 51, member of a wealthy Santa Barbara, Cal., family, was found on the street early this morning, under a window of the Hotel Monteleone.

Miss Rose Call Cavalieri, nurse who had accompanied Miss Ford to Omaha, stated the woman had been suffering from a nervous and mental breakdown.

President's Family Narrowly Escapes Death by Lightning

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 21.—The president's family and the countryside in general were thankful today that the simple little Coolidge home here is not wired for electric lights. The absence of wires, according to electrical workers, was one of the things that prevented a lightning bolt from entering the house where Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were spending their vacation, during one of the most severe rain and electrical storms that ever visited this part of Vermont.

The bolt struck a telephone pole near the house, darted through the wires into the Coolidge general store across the road and wrecked two telegraph sets in the temporary "executive offices" there. An operator at one instrument narrowly escaped death.

Warships Patrol Pathway of Planes On Longest Lap Of World Flight
REYKJAVIK, Aug. 21.—After being weather bound in Iceland for three weeks, Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson, United States army round-the-world aviators, hopped off for Greenland at 7:15 o'clock today.

The Italian distance aviator, Lieutenant Locatelli, who arrived here several days ago, accompanied the Americans. He had been granted official permission to do so.

The fliers had hoped to get away at 3 o'clock in the morning but were detained. Their decision to make a supreme effort to hop off this morning was due to the shortage of fuel and provisions on the cruiser and destroyer fleet that is guarding the waterway routes of the airmen.

800-Mile Flight
Smith and Locatelli would fly to Frederiksdal, slightly northeast of Cape Farewell, on the southern extremity of Greenland. The distance is more than 800 miles.

The United States cruiser Richmond, which came to port with spare parts for the two American machines, left last night and reported by wireless this morning that she was about 70 miles out on the route to Cape Farewell. Repairs were made upon the

DIRIGIBLE'S TRIP TO CROWN CAREER

Zeppelin Builder to Guide ZR-3 Across Atlantic When Completed

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service. Copyright, 1924.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 21.—"The moment I deliver the ZR-3 to the United States naval authorities at Lakehurst, N. J., after a safe and satisfactory flight across the Atlantic ocean, I will be the happiest man in the world and consider my life's work crowned."

Sitting upon an International News Service correspondent on a terrace overlooking Lake Constance on the other side of which glistened the snow-capped Swiss Alps, Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran Zeppelin navigator, executive and commander of the ZR-3 until the moment he hands it over to the United States, today broke his reserve and his silence for the first time.

Flight Starts Soon
Dr. Eckener, who is famous for his resilience, told the reporter interviewing facts about the great gray monster lying in a vast shed on the other side of this town. In a few weeks the eyes of all the civilized world will be on Friedrichshafen, as the historic flight of the ZR-3 will begin here.

Eckener is a big man, of powerful build. He has large blue eyes and a tiny goatee. Upon his shoulders rests not only responsibility for perfect construction, since he is the chief executive of the Zeppelin works, but also for a safe flight across the Atlantic.

Americans Helped
"My estimate is that we will start for America about September 15," said Eckener. "Of course, it all depends on the weather. If necessary I will wait until the end of October. If we cannot fly then we will be unable to get away this year, for it will be too stormy over the Atlantic in November and the subsequent winter months. I am confident we will be at Lakehurst before the end of September."

"Co-operation between the Americans and Germans throughout has been harmonious and cordial. The Americans have displayed an amiable spirit and they have made good suggestions which we followed out gladly."

FLYERS HOP OFF ON LONGEST LAP

800-Mile Dash for Greenland

planes of Smith and Nelson after the parts had been landed from the Richmond.

Warships on Patrol
The American cruiser Milwaukee is in Greenland waters and there are two destroyers patrolling in between to give quick aid if any of the aviators have an accident.

Under the original plans, the flyers were to have gone from Reykjavik to Angmagalik, on the east coast of Greenland, but there was so much ice off that Greenland port that the plan had to be changed.

American ships patrolling between Iceland and Greenland reported good weather conditions all the way, but the landing conditions at Frederiksdal were said to be very bad.

Officers on the Richmond estimated that the flyers would reach Frederiksdal about 6 o'clock.

Lieutenant Leigh Wade, one of the original four army pilots who began the globe flight at Los Angeles in March, is on board the Milwaukee. He will be supplied with another plane when the flyers reach Canada.

Ships Flash Reports On Greenland Dash

ON BOARD U. S. CRUISER RICHMOND, NINETY MILES OFF REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 21 (by wireless).—The American and Italian flyers passed over the Richmond at 9:35 o'clock. Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian aviator, was leading Lieutenants Lowell Smith and Erik Nelson by five miles.

Lieutenant Lowell Smith, Lieutenant Erik Nelson and Lieutenant Locatelli passed the American destroyer Reid 206 miles off from Reykjavik, Iceland, at 9:40 o'clock, Iceland time. They had completed one-fourth of their journey to Greenland in two hours and twenty-five minutes.

Nelson Forced Down, But Resumes Flight

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Erik Nelson, one of the two United States round-the-world flyers, who hopped off from Reykjavik, Iceland, at 7:15 o'clock this morning for Frederiksdal, Greenland, was forced to descend for a few minutes at Skererajford, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received here. He re-ascended almost immediately, however.

TAKES PARTNERS INTO AUTO FIRM

S. C. Packer Incorporates
His Business to Include
Four Associates

The Packer Auto company, local Studebaker distributors, 245 South Brand boulevard, announces that the firm has been incorporated under the style of the Packer Motor Co., Inc., the officials of the company being S. C. Packer, president; R. L. Conover, vice-president; D. R. Bricker, vice-president and general manager; A. N. Carson, treasurer.

The Packer Auto company has for the past eight years been distributor of Studebaker automobiles in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Burbank and other points in the San Fernando valley, and in that time has built up one of the most important businesses in the industry in this region.

Mr. Conover has been with the firm for the past year as sales manager. Mr. Bricker has been associated with the firm for three years as manager of the Burbank branch, and Mr. Carson also counts three years' service in the accounting end of the business. The change is made largely to show S. C. Packer's appreciation of the efforts made by some of his associates in building up the business.

Isabell Richards Is Coalinga Man's Bride

Miss Isabell Kent Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Richards of 1018 South Adams street, and Robert G. Lovich of Coalinga, Cal., were united in marriage Wednesday morning, August 19, 1924, at the Presbyterian manse, 121 South Cedar street, at 9 o'clock. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, was the officiant. Only the parents of the bride and a few intimate friends were in attendance at the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lovich left by motor for a camping trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Coalinga, where Mr. Lovich is a member of the faculty of the Coalinga High school.

Paving on Glendale Avenue Is Discussed

The question of the stability and endurance of the paving on Glendale avenue furnished the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the Glendale Improvement association, held today noon at the Harriett Mae Tea room. No action was taken by the members of the association, it being decided to wait to see if the National Pavings company will keep the pavement in good condition in accordance with its guarantee.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits for August totaled $448,836 at noon today, bringing the total for the year to $6,842,124, according to figures in the office of H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent. Following is the list of permits issued since noon yesterday:

H. S. Sundmacher, 6 rooms and garage, 636 West Doran street, $4,000

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Trading slackened today on the Los Angeles stock and bond exchange, but prices for the most part held firm.

Edison common at $98.50 and the 7 per cent stock of the same issue at $103.25 remained steady. Los Angeles Investment declined 2 points over yesterday's high to $3.61. More than 600 shares changed hands during the morning session on the floor.

Julian Petroleum preferred was erratic this morning. Opening 1/2 below yesterday at $14.25, it slumped to $14, went back to $14.25, declined rapidly to $13.75 and finally closed at noon at $14. The common stock of this issue was not traded.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

WALTER H. RODNEY
Funeral services for Walter H. Rodney, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, in the L. C. Scoverson chapel on South Brand boulevard. Interment will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Interments at Grand View Memorial park yesterday were Carlos Morina, Van Nuys; and Mrs. Mary Varney Turner, 126 1/2 North Everett street, Glendale.

RECOUNT TALE OF YOUTH'S MURDER

Leopold and Loeb Squirm as Attorney Asks Death
Penalty in Case

When the noon recess was reached he was not nearly through. "Dicky" and "Babe" were two sobered young men as they listened to Savage's rasping voice verbally shaking the noose in their faces. They did not laugh, as they have frequently during this unusual trial.

Body in Culvert
Savage began the story of the crime today at the culvert where they shoved Bobby Franks' body into the dirty water of a drain pipe and poured acid on his features in an effort to frustrate recognition.

"It was their intention, so stated," Savage declared, "to shove the body of this little boy far into the recesses of that pipe with a stick, but being in a hurry, they failed to take that precaution, so Leopold used his foot."

"And less than twenty minutes after they had killed this boy wantonly and hidden his body in the drain pipe, Loeb casually called up his sweetheart and had a telephone conversation with her about trivial happenings. And Leopold called his home."

"Then they called the home of their little victim. They told Mrs. Franks her boy had been kidnapped, and was safe, and that she would receive instructions as to how to proceed later. The agonized mother tried to find out where her boy was, if he was safe, but they hung up on her after telling her that he was safe."

"My God, you know, at that very moment that little boy was lying cold in death, with acid eating his features, in that God-forsaken drain pipe under the Penhandle tracks."

Glendale's Telephone Growth Told by Deal

change additions, not to mention the hundreds of thousands of dollars already invested in telephone equipment here."

The comparative figures since 1920 show the steady growth of Glendale's telephone business, as well as increased population, but it is admitted that the more populous a city becomes the fewer telephones per person. Here is the evidence from the auditor's reports of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company that Glendale is growing faster than ever before:

Year	Phones
January 1, 1920	2,247
" 1, 1921	2,308
" 1, 1922	3,693
" 1, 1923	4,426
" 1, 1924	5,529
July 1, 1924	6,314
Today	6,989

It will be noted that the increase so far this year is greater than that of 1923. And even the record year of 1922 will be exceeded when the 256 new orders are filled, with more than four months' additional business ahead to add to the 1407 telephones installed and ordered.

Evarts Return Home After Eastern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Evarts, 163 South Central avenue, returned last night to Glendale, after an absence of almost two months, during which they attended the Elks convention that was held in Boston, later visiting several of the principal cities in the east before swinging toward home through the Canadian northwest.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Trading in the stock market was less spectacular than in the last two sessions. There were fewer excursions into new high price territory by industrial stocks; less profit-taking setting pressure and apparently the bullish pools were content to allow their stocks to follow their own course today.

With industrials displaying less irregularity, and particularly the oil stocks unaffected by the cut of 15 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania crude oil, the rails took on a more active aspect, and under the leadership of Southern Railway, prices advanced to a slightly higher level. The most pronounced exception to this rule was St. Paul common and preferred, which declined sharply on reports that the management was having great difficulty in arranging for the refunding of its $45,000,000 of four per cent due in June of next year. The bonds were weak today in the listed bond market.

The general advance in industrials was not without opposition by the shorts who were actively seeking soft spots to renew their selling for the decline. Wilson and company common and preferred offered one such target for bearish operations; General Electric gave ground in that early trading; Mack Truck receded about three points on announcement that new stocks would be put out at $8 in the ratio of five to one of existing outstanding stock; American Can displayed some disorder in retreating about 4 points from yesterday's high, but the bulls were in the saddle throughout the bulk of the session and were apparently not yet ready to relinquish their firm grip on the present price structure.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT TO WORK

Giving Up of Condemnation
Proceedings Urged on Chestnut Street

The continued hearing on the abandonment of condemnation proceedings for the improvement of Chestnut street from Glendale avenue to Adams street occupied over an hour of the time of the Glendale City Council, at this morning's session, the council chambers at the City Hall, being crowded with protesters against the improvement, which was instituted two years ago and for which assessment rolls have already been prepared.

Attorney Bert F. Woodard represented the protesters, declaring that seventy-two desired to have the proceedings abandoned and only six wished to have the improvement made at this time. Councilman S. S. Gilhuly and Asa Hall expressed themselves as strongly in favor of denying all protests but on move of Councilman S. A. Davis it was voted to lay the matter over for thirty days. It was then voted to abandon the proceedings if on or before the end of that time the property owners involved would reimburse the city of Glendale the sum of $888.34, which has actually been paid out in instituting the condemnation proceedings and carrying them to the present point.

Amend Ordinance
The ordinance adopted August 14 by the council, fixing the amount of money to be raised by taxation, during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1924, was amended in three particulars, as follows: The sum of $13,196 provided for District No. 6 was changed to $10,396; the sum of $1800 provided for street improvement at the election of 1923, approving bonds, interest and sinking fund, was changed to $2760; and the sum of $2895 provided for District No. 7 was changed to $2010. These changes will not affect the city tax rate of $1.11, according to A. J. Van Wile, city clerk.

A dance hall ordinance and a request from Virgil B. Stone, city manager, for an appropriation of approximately $3000, for advertising purposes, were held over to be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning, August 25, to take the place of the meeting that would have come on August 26, which is election day.

PREDICT DIRECT PRESIDENT VOTE

Mrs. George Larkey Tells of Impressions Gained at Democratic Meet

Hopes that the day is not far distant when the president and vice-president of the United States will be elected by direct vote of the people, the same as United States senators, are expressed by Mrs. George Larkey of 1305 North Central avenue, who has just returned from an extended eastern visit, during which she attended the national Democratic convention as a delegate from California.

During the convention Mrs. Larkey had the honor of a platform seat, from which she watched with interest the detailed procedure of the great political gathering, which she describes as a "sincere struggle which gave to the party the ablest men presented to the convention."

"The best feature of the convention," says Mrs. Larkey, "was the serious attitude of the women toward their civic duty. The women were always in their seats ready for the routine work, and every one of them was intensely interested in the minority report presented by Newton Baker."

Depends On Women
"I believe it is the women who are going to bring order out of these chaotic national conventions. Through their local, state and national club work the women have learned to facilitate business procedure, and when more women participate in national conventions matters will be handled with a greater saving of time and in a more satisfactory way."

"There are three types of citizens at conventions: first, the politicians, usually in the minority, who hold out flattering hopes to their candidates second, those who are present from civic duty, and, third, those attracted by spectacular features, who are usually absent when the roll is called."

Summing up the whole convention Mrs. Larkey called it a "spectacular affair" and expressed regret that a gathering of the kind should be dragged out so as to keep busy business men and women from their duties for a period of five weeks.

Special Trains

The California, Oregon, Washington and Utah delegations went east on a special train, and Mrs. Larkey states the trip was most enjoyable. The travelers were delightfully entertained in Salt Lake City, Chicago and at Niagara. In New York they were met with three bands and escorted up Fifth avenue to the Vanderbilt hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McAdoo awaited them.

Following the convention Mrs. Larkey visited relatives in Rochester N. Y., Chicago and Minneapolis. She says she found Minneapolis the most prosperous eastern city she visited.

Of special interest was a trip through the agricultural states, Iowa and Nebraska, where Mrs. Larkey attended county and state fairs.

HORSESHOE AGES TO DEFEND TITLE

Porter and Anstey to Meet State's Best Hurlers In Pasadena Meet

The state horseshoe pitching tournament, that is to open at Pasadena on August 27, will see the Glendale championship team defending their title against the hurling aces of the entire state.

Glenn B. Porter, 124 West Broadway, and A. V. Anstey, 204 West Broadway, won the state championship at Santa Monica last year, and this year they will endeavor to beat back the attacks of their rivals for the honor, and both men are confident that they will be able to retain their title in the Pasadena meet.

Sacramento Next

In the competition that is to be held at the state fair at Sacramento, August 31 to September 2, the same two men will probably enter as representatives of the Glendale Horseshoe club that holds forth on West Broadway.

They are waiting to secure complete data regarding the prizes that are to be ordered in both the doubles and the singles classes, and in case they consider the awards worth while trying for, they will take their pet shoes up north and try to clean up.

Mr. Porter last year finished in eleventh place in the national tournament at Florida, competing with the experts of the entire country.

Dr. Eble will be assisted by Dr. Paul Plozman, recent arrival from New York, who will care for Dr. Eble's patients during his absence.

Candidate For Judgeship Presents Qualifications For Position to Voters

Stressing the importance of a careful investigation of the record of any candidate who seeks election to a position on the judiciary, H. S. G. McCartney, a candidate for nomination to the office of judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county in the primary election, August 26, appeals to the voters on the record of his accomplishments in the past.

For nineteen years Mr. McCartney has served as deputy district attorney, establishing a reputation in this office that has been the reason for his retention under three different administrations. He holds the record for the largest number of successful prosecutions of murderers, robbers, burglars, bunco men, violators of moral laws, and crooks and criminals generally.

Mr. McCartney's work in the state legislature, both in the lower house and in the senate, shows that he is the author of more constructive and progressive legislation than any other single individual in the public life of California today.

Sponsored is listed the act permitting the consolidation of San Pedro with Los Angeles in order to permit the latter city to own and operate its own harbor, now one of the finest on the Pacific coast. This bill, he points out, was only piloted to success after a bitter fight every inch of the way against avaricious corporations and the machinations of politicians.

Another act fathered by him is the Juvenile Court act, creating the present juvenile court, and on this part of his record alone he asks the support of humanitarians and progressive thinkers, as through this means many young men and women who would otherwise have been incarcerated in penal institutions have been placed in corrective homes away from association with hardened criminals. The state Pure Food and Drugs act is another accomplishment of Mr. McCartney's which has been of inestimable benefit to the housewives of California, as it has removed much of the menace to public health that formerly existed.

The Police and Firemen's Pension act is another piece of legislation credited to Mr. McCartney, and it has been copied almost in its entirety by other states. The candidate is a native of Springfield, Ill., and is 56 years of age. He is married and has four children, and has practiced law in the Los Angeles county courts continuously since his admission to the bar in 1895.

"A judge is the most important factor in the protection of individual rights and society at large," declares Mr. McCartney, "and wise and beneficial laws are of no avail unless they are justly administered, so that the electorate should choose only those candidates who are suited to the administration of absolute justice."

RAIN IN AUGUST IS NOT UNUSUAL

H. E. Bartlett Gives Record Of Summer Showers Visiting Glendale

With clouds lowering over Southern California and rain falling in the northern part of the state, Glendallians may well cast their eyes thoughtfully aloft. The question seems to be not "Will it rain?" but "Could it possibly rain?"

A visit to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway, who have watched over the capricious of Jupiter Pluvius with a government rain gauge since way back in 1909, dispels any doubt about the question.

Records of Past

Three times in August, the Bartlett records show, rain graced the dusty midsummer earth of Glendale: August 24, 1916, in the morning; August 14, 1918, in the morning; and August 12, 1923, at midnight. Many were awakened from their slumbers last year by the latter shower.

In September, the records show, rain has frequently fallen here in large quantities, as will be seen from the following table:

Inches	Inches
1910.....1.08	1919.....2.73
1916.....1.15	1920......06
1918.....1.15	1923......28

In October, according to the Bartlett records, rain has been frequent and heavy since 1909. The heaviest downpour for any year was in October, 1916, when the precipitation was 4.65 inches.

No Bets Being Made

From these records it is seen that Jupiter Pluvius has it in his power to give Glendale and Southern California a good watering any time he chooses. In August, September or October. As far as odds go, however, no books are being made on whether it will rain today.

Those who desire can figure their own odds from the fact that during the 1921-22 season the total precipitation was 27.58 inches; during 1922-23 it dropped to 12.23 inches, and in 1923-24 it slumped off again to the very low total of 8.75 inches. The average since 1909 has been 18 inches per season, the Bartlett records show.

Women Athletes Fill Charter Member List

The Women's Athletic club of Glendale is to meet on Friday in Patterson avenue park. Announcement is made that the charter membership of fifty is rapidly filling up and will shortly be complete. After it is closed all memberships will be received by application.

Those attending the meeting Friday are to meet at the park at 12 o'clock for lunch. Anyone not desiring to have luncheon in the park is asked to be present at 1 o'clock for the afternoon meeting. Mothers are invited to bring children to play in the park during the meeting.

Special announcement is made stating that all affiliated with the club are to bring $1 as yearly dues.

Bleachers at Harvard High School on Fire

Flames starting in the Harvard High school bleachers on an unknown cause, at 10:30 o'clock last night, brought the local fire department to the scene. The blaze was promptly extinguished and the damage was slight, reports Captain Ralph E. Dods-worth, who was in charge.

A similar fire broke out in the Harvard High school bleachers a year ago, according to A. H. Lankford, chief of the Glendale fire department.

Girl Scouts Report Daily Camp Activity

Girl Scouts of Glendale in camp at Hollywood Beach, three miles from Oxnard, are keeping a daily log in poetical form, and the accounts of Sunday and Monday, received today at The Glendale Evening News office, are most clever.

Another feature of the camp is the campfire program each night, arranged by the different troops. Mrs. M. A. Wichert, secretary of the Girl Scout council, who is at the camp, writes that the girls are all well and enjoying the outing. Each girl is participating in the various activities as evidenced by the poetical logs written by the girls of the various troops.

Attorney for Indians Is Glendale Visitor

S. M. Brosins of Washington, D. C., agent and attorney of the Indian Heights association, was a visitor in Glendale early this week, being a dinner guest Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Chubbuck at 1420 Valley View road.

This association has its headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa. It is one of the oldest organizations in the United States interested in Indian welfare, and was largely instrumental in securing the passage of the act providing for the construction of the San Carlos dam in Arizona, that is of such vital importance to the Pima Indians.

Mrs. B. F. Dupuy Hurt In Motor Collision

Mrs. Benjamin F. Dupuy of 722 East Lomita avenue, was slightly injured at 6:45 o'clock last night when her car and a car driven by Charles P. Aney of 315 East Fairview avenue collided at the corner of Park and Glendale avenues. Both cars were damaged.

Mrs. Dupuy is the wife of Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer. Her injuries included slight bruises and a cut on the wrist. Mr. Aney was not injured.

Evangelistic Service Continues at Church

The evangelistic campaign at the Nazarene church on South Glendale avenue is still in progress. Last night Evangelist Ong gave a talk on "Obedience to the Will of God." A musical program included a duet by Mr. Rutledge and Miss Sheirhaus and a solo by Miss Gibbons. There will be two more week night services, tonight and tomorrow night, at 7:30

STORES MUST HAVE PATRONAGE

Most of the people on the earth appreciate the benefits to be derived from living near other people. Those who have lived in isolated districts know from experience. Those who have always lived in cities realize the advantages of city life, although they may never have considered the matter concretely.

But, there is a large number of people who never concern themselves with the thought that if there are advantages in community life, each individual should pay his share toward the upkeep of the association. Of course, we all are compelled to help pay the running expenses of the community in taxes but there are other obligations as well.

One of the necessary appurtenances of a real home community is a place where the necessities of life can be purchased. Without this, one of the important things that impel people to dwell together would be lacking, without this the community would not be attractive to those outside who might otherwise join the association. And, the more highly developed this place of trade or commerce, the more important the community. Householders and housekeepers demand the convenience of retail stores when they live together in groups.

Glendale's highly efficient trading center answers the need of the people and caters to those who have been accustomed to the ultimate in buying facilities in other places.

The people of Glendale have demanded and have received the best in the way of retail stores, an indispensable adjunct of a city of the prestige and importance of ours. But, do the people ever think of their part in this feature of community life? They demand stores as a convenience. But, stores cannot exist, and keep step with all the phases of modern merchandising, on air alone. The people who demand stores as a convenience must patronize them, not only in an emergency, when a spool of thread is needed, but at all times when the necessities and the luxuries of life are to be purchased. Community life means give and take. None who enjoy community life are excused from its responsibilities.

There were many who were eager to predict, not so very many years ago, that Glendale could never be more than a village, because of our close proximity to a great merchandising center. Glendale has been able to refute this prediction because her people have patronized the Glendale stores to such an extent that a wonderful trade center has been built up.

Glendale's future growth depends, not a little, upon this same co-operation on the part of the people. To the extent that we all help to build up and keep up our business activity, Glendale will become larger and greater.

GETTING AN EDUCATION

In a few weeks schools will be re-opening again, and it would not be out of place for pupils to begin to consider the studies they intend to take up and begin to learn something about them. Not everything about any subject is contained in the school text book, and the boy or girl who seeks information from every source about any subject he is studying, is the one who is truly educating himself, for education does not consist alone in memorizing what is in a book. It comprises also knowing how to get information and where to go for it.

Of course, it is important, too, to prepare the lesson assigned by the teacher. Studious habits are formed, and thoroughness learned in this way, and the student gets facts about a subject that leads him to look for other information, if he is at all interested in what he is studying.

The bane of the large high school and the big university is the condition that does not allow each student to recite every day. This leads the careless pupil to neglect preparation of the lesson in the hope and, sometimes certain knowledge, that he will not be called upon, anyway. High school pupils sometimes do not realize the opportunities that are theirs, and so neglect them. It is taken for granted that the college or university student is going to school for a purpose, and that he is old enough and sensible enough to realize that no one suffers but himself when he takes advantage of large classes or of any other condition to neglect preparation of his lessons.

It is very sad that we have to learn so much from experience. The parent or older person can rarely tell the young student that he will regret it in after life if he neglects any opportunity to get an education. He has to learn this for himself.

FASCISM ON TRIAL

Fascism is again on trial in Italy. The black-shirts and their leader, Mussolini, have done a great service for their country, but it is a question now whether they should not retire and restore constitutional government in Italy once more. These men snatched their country from the hands of the revolutionists, sent the people back to work and restored law and order. Marching on Rome, Mussolini took possession of the government, demanded and was given by parliament an absolute dictatorship, and the people upheld him in the elections that followed.

Such a course could only be right in such an emergency as existed in Italy. There were too many factions in parliament to accomplish anything, and only the hand of a strong and wise leader could have brought Italy through that crisis. But, there now appears the danger that Mussolini will turn tyrant, that he will demand loyalty to fascism rather than loyalty to Italy. The assassination of the Socialist leader, Matteotti, as the culmination of a campaign of intimidation against those opposed to the fascists gives grounds for fear in this regard.

Mussolini proved himself a great leader, and he and his followers did a great service for Italy. But, it would seem now that their work is done, unless some such emergency should arise again in the future, that Italy should be returned to constitutional government.

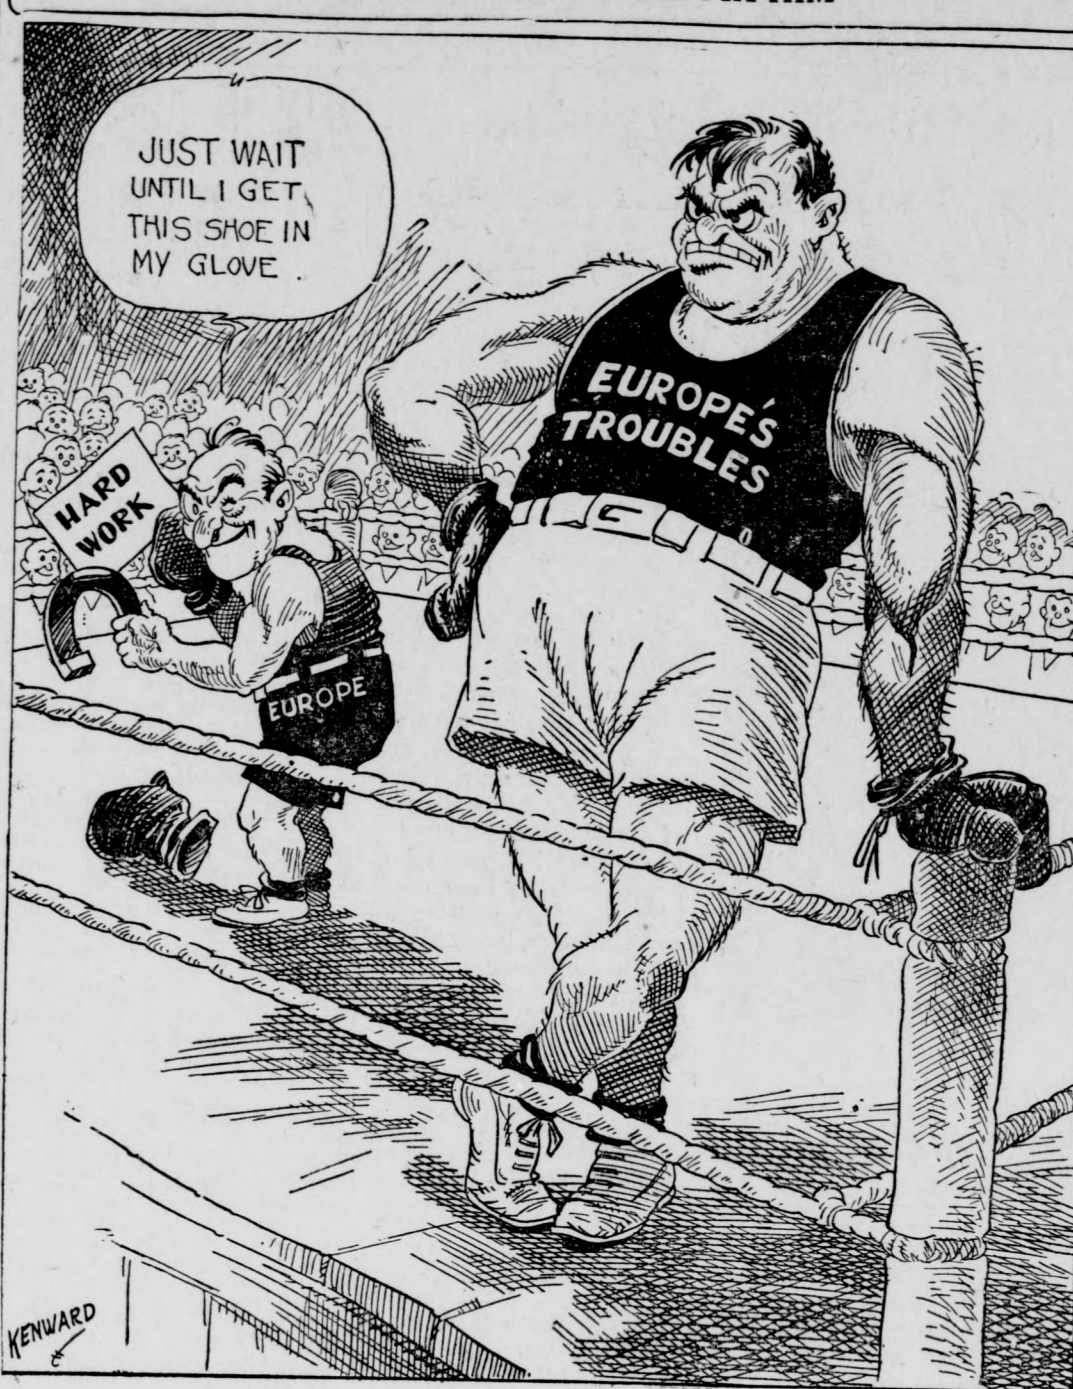

These black-shirted patriots won the admiration of the world. Their leader was apparently unselfish in the work he did for Italy. It would be a pity now if the world should have to reverse its opinion of Mussolini and fascism.

A man is said to have invented a mirror that will enable us to see ourselves as others see us. Not many of us would risk a look. We want to keep our self-respect.

"This problem doesn't come out right," said the pupil. "Neither do your father's potatoes," said the teacher. "He has to dig them out."

News item: "Mrs. John Jones lost her husband in an automobile accident. The car was totally demolished. The loss is fully covered by insurance."

THE HORSE SHOE WILL FIX HIM

The Revolt of Youth

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Dealing with what is known as "the revolt of youth" we must take into account what education is.

Much of the revolt of youth is an expression of the spirit of independence, a revolt of the young person against adopting the ideas or methods that are not his own.

According to Dr. W. S. Howard, corresponding secretary of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, one phase of what has been called the revolt of youth may truly be called the collapse of restraint.

"Parents have almost quit rearing their children," said Dr. Bovard. "Teachers wear no badge of authority and society in general refuses to train up children in the way they should go."

This, of course, is not so. The children of today are as good as they ever were and the children of tomorrow will be better. Dr. Bovard's alarm is merely at a revolt against authority and it is not authority that children need so much as the proper development of their individuality.

This is not a plea for the absence of restraint among children, but it is rather a plea for placing the restraint in the right place. It should be within them.

Attention has been called to the collapse of authority. There is no collapse of authority. The only right place for authority is within one's self. No amount of training or discipline will do anyone any good if it is training and discipline in response to an outside stimulus.

It must be inside. The child should be trained to exercise and use his own faculties. In the using of these he will develop the necessary strength.

If more attention is paid to the development of children in the proper way and less attention to the sustaining of certain standards of society for children, more good will be done.

We should always keep in mind in matters of education that in a short time we will be gone and the responsibility of the world will be placed upon the shoulders of the children. Anyone who realizes this will realize that it is more important to develop strength in children than it is to develop their own authority over them.

Horoscope

Until evening kindly stars rule, according to astrology. Venus, the Sun and Uranus are all in benefic aspect during the busy hours of the day. Neptune frowns toward nightfall.

Women are subject to the best guidance at this time and the seers foretell much public work along new lines.

Reform movements for the purpose of stamping out crime appear to be indicated for women who will achieve good results.

Again there is a good sign for those who seek employment. Chicago is subject to a particularly promising rule of the stars.

Education is under a planetary government making for progress which is extremely practical, it is foretold.

Science is to be stressed as never before and new vocations are to open to young men and young women.

Mars is to have a sinister power in November, it is prognosticated, when the planet's conjunction with Jupiter takes place.

London is to be affected by this planetary rule which may bring much illness to English statesmen.

Many fires again are foretold for the United States, especially for the west where conflagrations of forests will blot out millions of dollars.

October is to mark a renewal of trade, the dates from the sixth to the twentieth being especially favorable.

Beginning tomorrow exceeding stormy weather may be expected.

Impetus to mechanical achievements should be marked under this direction of the stars.

Explosions may be numerous during the remainder of the month and part of September.

Mining operations may be hazardous and the navy is subject to sinister influences.

Persons whose birth date is it has the augury of a fortunate prosperous year. Young widows probably will have much romance and many offers of marriage.

Children born on this day should be clever and much respected. Girls may be tempted to marriage with men older than themselves.

Today's Poem

THE PASSION-FLOWER
My love gave me a passion-flower.
I nursed it well—so brief its hour!
My eyelids ache, my throat is dry;
He told me that it would not die.

My love and I are one, and yet
Full oft my cheeks with tears are wet—
So sweet the night is and the bower!
My love gave me a passion-flower.

So sweet! Hold fast my hands.
Can God
Make all this revert to sod?
And leave to me but this for dower—
My love gave me a passion-flower.

—Margaret Fuller.

RIGHT TO TITLE
The visitor to the village was greatly interested in all that he saw. In particular he noticed that one inhabitant of the place was treated with great respect by the others.

"I observe," remarked the visitor to the local gossip, "that you all treat that gentleman with marked deference."

"Yes," he's one of our early settlers," was the reply.

"Early settlers?" asked the other. "Why, he's not more than 30 years old."

"That may be true," answered the old man. "But he pays all his bills promptly on the first of every month."

ANXIOUS
After waiting twenty minutes for the fish he had ordered he complained to the waiter.

"In five minutes, sir," said the waiter.

But ten minutes passed and there was no sign of the fish. So when he could catch the waiter's eye again he beckoned to him.

"Just go," he said, "and find out what bait they're using."

The Ravings Of a Grouch

It seems to me the growing use of the motor car is breeding selfishness, if not worse, in the human race. When the average person, who has heretofore been pleased to share his blessings with his neighbors and friends, gets a car, he seems to think his kindness and neighborliness should end. Of course, nearly all of our friends have cars themselves, and would not care for our invitations, but nearly everyone has a few acquaintances who are without this source of pleasure and convenience, and who would enjoy an occasional ride.

I know of people who, day after day, drive out of their garages in big cars with seats unoccupied, right before the noses of people who would enjoy a ride.

There are some who make a practice of filling their cars with friends when they go out for pleasure, but it seems to be the general rule to be as selfish as possible with a car, although we may take pleasure in sharing other things.

In the good old days we used to drive along with a horse and carriage and pick up the traveler by the wayside. Now it is a sort of travesty on civilization that we must be afraid to offer the way-farer a ride, and he, did we offer it, must fear to accept. The motor car has indeed carried us a long way from the old days of hospitality and helpfulness to others.

The automobile is a boon to progress, but a discouragement to unselfishness; it helps business, but hinders helpfulness.

When a man sits at the wheel of a motor car a feeling of power comes to him, and often this feeling is in inverse ratio to the power of the car. There is something about operating an automobile that causes him to look down upon and despise the many who walk. This feeling may be unconscious, but it is there.

Even I, who use the street cars daily, look with pity and disdain upon those who travel that way, when, on rare occasions, I rattle past them with a friend in a Ford. If merely riding in a cheap car gives me this feeling what does operation and possession of a real car not do?

It would seem to me I would get more pleasure out of a car if I shared it with those less fortunate, but I presume I would be as selfish as the average if I owned an automobile.

MANY SUFFER IN COLDS EPIDEMIC

Raw Onion Cure Suggested As Means to Overcome Summer Illness

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southern News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—The curse of a wisdom tooth has nothing on the epidemic of summer colds now prevalent in southern California, due to the unseasonable weather.

At the Orpheum and other playhouses this week the troupers are apologizing for their colds. However, it doesn't seem to impair the enthusiasm for Blossom Seeley and her co-stars who are the principal sufferers—not the audiences.

One of them tells the story that he had to double up in a berth coming south with a member of the Ku Klux Klan. During the night the knight took the sheets to stage a parade and the actor caught cold.

Certain Remedies

On authority of the purveyor of corn beef at one famous establishment there is one way to cure a cold quickly—that is to eat raw onion until you become impervious to summer complaint. Such a remedy, however, necessitates an absence from close friends.

But if you have both a cold and a worrisome wisdom tooth, as one Los Angeles man complained, there is only one thing to do. Have the tooth pulled and the glittering proboscis will be sweet as the rose compared to the sting of the thorn.

INVENTS CAR TO CLEAR HIGHWAY

Willy-Nilly Is Name of New Traffic Goblin; Weighs Twenty-five Tons

The latest thing in automobiles is soon to make its appearance in Glendale, if the letter of a Glendale motorist, with offices in the Lawson building, is to be taken seriously. This motorist announces a machine he claims will prove a blessing to all persons who have been harassed on the highways, and will make the boulevards and thoroughfares a regular Utopia for drivers.

The new device, according to the letter to the Safety Week editor of The Glendale Evening News from the motorist who worked out the plans and specifications, has been christened the "Willy-Nilly." To quote the inventor, here are the specifications: Standard Style "General lines and equipment are standard, except the engine, which is 100 horsepower plus 20-mile team and 10 oxen. Body is battleship plate, cast in bloc. Springs are mountain locomotive spiral, non-floating type. Radiator is imitation only, as concealed ammonia cooling system does the work. Running boards and fenders are three-inch cold-rolled railroad steel. Wheels have spokes

Airships Compete With Automobiles For Texans' Favor

In Dallas, Texas, the airplane business is cutting in on the automobile business this summer. Airplanes are being sold by two commercial concerns at the rate of 40 a week. That is the statement of Byron Good of the firm of Good and Foster, who maintain an air service station and sell airplanes to the public. The prices of airplanes are a little cheaper than the lower priced cars.

Airplane dealers declare the vast majority of the planes are sold to persons who intend to use them for pleasure.

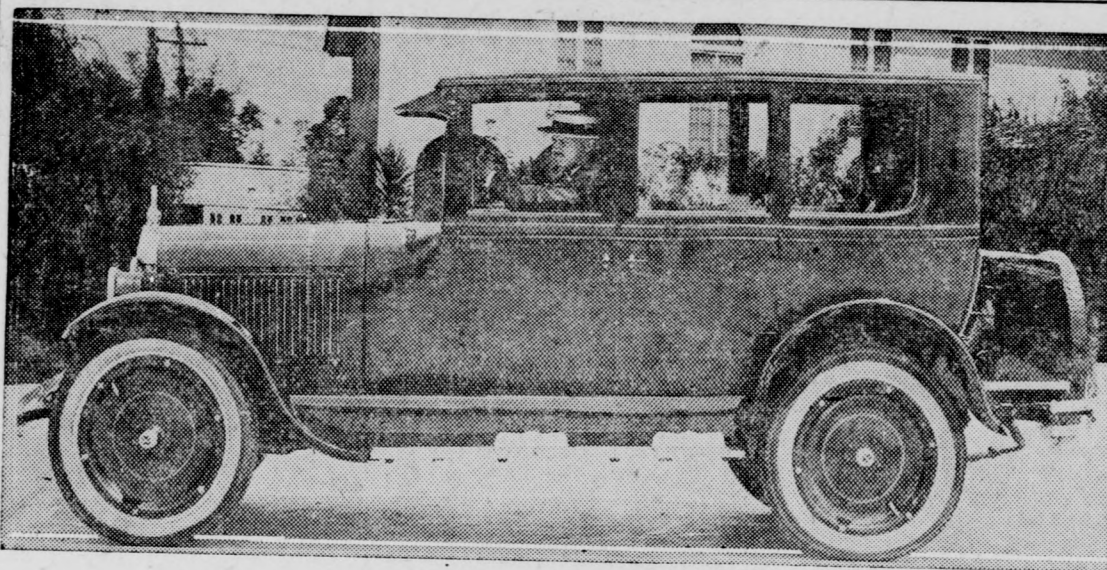

The airplane people at Dallas announce among the owners of planes used for pleasure, are printers, butchers, merchants, clerks, carpenters, bricklayers, editors and even girl stenographers.

State Makes Analysis Of Water for Safety

To protect the health of motorists who use wayside drinking water, the Pennsylvania state department of health is making an analysis of drinking water along state highways. As soon as the tests are made, the results will be sent to field engineers, who will post the drinking places. It is planned to post each source of water supply, and, where the water is found to be dangerous to the public health, warning signs will be set up.

New Oldsmobiles Are Out

The latest models of the popular Six Cylinder car that created such a furore in motor-ing circles when it was introduced a few months ago are attracting Glendale autoists to the C. H. HUNTER agency at 208 West Broadway. Photos show one of the closed types and the new style radiator that has been adopted.

A new Oldsmobile line of motor cars was displayed on the show-rooms of C. H. Hunter, Oldsmobile dealer, 208 West Broadway, last Saturday.

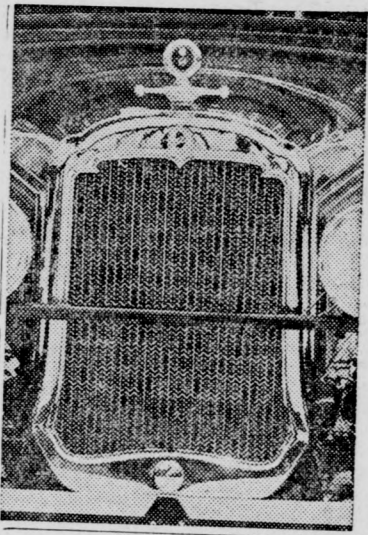

The cars are well worth seeing. New in design, they have an elegance of appearance that marks them as the most striking Oldsmobile models ever presented to the public.

Gone is the old type radiator with the rounded hood, to take its place with the curved dash Olds of years ago, and in its stead is a beautiful new radiator that follows the most approved and advanced designs in both European and American car construction. It has a graceful double curve at the top with a slightly curved peak downward in the center which acts as a base for the long known Oldsmobile oval emblem. Extending downward, the radiator shell follows slightly concave lines, broadening outward at the base, which continues the easy curves that are features of the design.

The shell is somewhat higher than the previous style, which makes possible an almost level streamline hood extending back to the rear of the cowl. The hood follows the double curve of the top of the radiator shell, adding distinctiveness.

New Light Styles The refinement of the front lines is further added to by the use of the new bell-shaped head and cowl lights, which are standard on all models. These lights are of a heavier and more substantial design than were the drum type formerly used. Durable Duco satin finish is used on all models. The standard models are finished in Oldsmobile blue, a rich, dignified shade, trimmed with ivory striping on body and wheels. The sport models continue to use the weathered bronze green shade that has proven popular during the past season. These are striped with black and gold. Throughout the line, even including the upper sections of the closed models, Duco is used, thus insuring a really permanent finish and one that can be economically and quickly repaired in case of mishap.

The full line of eight body types is continued. These are the touring, sport touring, roadster, sport roadster, two-passenger business coupe, four-passenger coupe, sedan and de luxe sedan. The touring and roadster are finished in black upholstery, while the open sport models have the heavily grained brown Spanish type upholstery. A new striped velour of a brown shade trims the interior of the closed models. These are also equipped with metal sun visors. All closed bodies are Fisher built.

"The new radiator lines have been featured in a rearrangement of operating instruments," said C. H. Hunter. "These are grouped in a nickle rimmed oval in the center of the instrument board.

In circles at each side are the ammeter and oil gauge. Nearer the center are the speedometer and the ignition and light controls, both enclosed in miniature reproduction of the radiator shell. In the center at the bottom is the choke and above it the Oldsmobile emblem. In the sport and de luxe models a gasoline gauge replaces the Oldsmobile name plate. On the same models also are used nickle-plated steering columns and large sized steering wheels. Gear shift and emergency brake levers are nickle-plated on all models. On the sport roadster and sport touring cars the instrument board is of white nickle-plated metal that has been lacquered, making it not only decidedly attractive, but rust-proof as well.

40,000 Are Sold Fundamentally the car remains the same as it was when it was introduced nearly a year ago and at which time it created a sensation in automotive circles as the lowest priced six-cylinder car in the world. Over forty thousand Oldsmobile six cars with this powerful motor are in the hands of owners. So uniformly satisfactory has been the performance of these cars that the engineering department of the Olds motor works could not find any radical improvements necessary, although a few refinements have been made in the power plant that makes it even more desirable. A change has been made in the tappets, which should insure much longer life to these hard working units.

Nineteen Licenses Revoked by State In Month of July

Nineteen motorists of the state had their licenses revoked during July for various reasons, according to a statement from the state motor vehicle department.

Revocations were made by the department for reckless driving, for driving autos while intoxicated and for speeding. Two cancellations were by court order, one case being in Hollywood and the other in San Francisco. Eight of the cancellations were made at the request of parents of young men who were asserted to have been reckless in operation of cars.

AWARD PRIZES IN SAFETY CONTEST

Glendale Girl Wins Award In Competition With State Students

Prizes for the best essays in the 1923 National Safety Campaign under the auspices of the Highway Educational Board at Washington, D. C., won by California pupils, are now being distributed by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Thirteen students in the schools of California were awarded medals and cash prizes. Fond parents in this section of the state may rejoice in the fact that twelve of the thirteen successful competitors in the nationwide test are residents of Southern California.

The first prize, a gold medal and $15 cash, was won by Ruth A. Rosedale, Canright District school, Rio Vista, California. Her essay will be entered in the national competition, and this honor will be shared by Miss Luey Woodin of McKittrick, California, who won first state honors in the lesson contest. The grand prizes in the national awards are, first: $500 cash and a trip to Washington, all expenses paid; second, $300; and third, $200.

Glendale Winner Included in the list of winners is Beth Jewell Morrish, of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school, Glendale, who has been awarded a cash prize of $5 and a bronze medal.

In the safety lesson contest are only two awards. The first state honor won by Miss Woodin, and honorable mention received by Miss Pauline Hauser, Emerson school, Pasadena. The fact that out of a total of fifteen awards to young Californians in the national contest, thirteen were won in Southern California is taken to indicate the excellent progress being made in teaching safety in the public schools in this section. The public safety department of the automobile club, under the direction of E. B. Lefferts, one of The Glendale Evening News Safety Week speakers, is cooperating with boards of education in many Southern California towns in a thorough and systematic curriculum of safety. That the pupils are grasping the fundamentals and importance of this course is attested by their success in the national campaign competition.

Leaves on Hard Roads Present Skid Problem

Motorists should beware of "leaf skidding." In the late summer or early autumn, the falling of leaves on hard-surfaced roads furnishes a special hazard in wet weather, the water remaining under the leaves when the remainder of the roadway is dry.

GIVES TEN RULES FOR MORE SAFETY

Auto Club Suggests Ways to Avoid Accidents When Driving on Road

Although greater efforts than ever before are being made to protect motorists and pedestrians alike on the highways, there are still a large number of unnecessary traffic accidents. Many rules have been suggested, and the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California believes that observance of the old-fashioned "Golden Rule" will go a long way towards making the highways safe.

From the many suggestions for safe driving, the following are regarded as so important that they have been called the ten commandments of driving. They are: 1. Drive on the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left.

2. Slow down when approaching a cross road; it's nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.

3. Look out for children. You never can tell what they will do, and you are always in the wrong if you hit one.

4. Try to help instead of hinder the traffic officer; he is there for your good and he's got a tough job.

5. Be sure that your "dimmers" really dim; it's no joke driving into a blinding glare, as you probably know.

6. Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.

7. If you feel you've got to speed—do it where you won't kill anybody but yourself.

8. When making minor repairs, stop where your car may be seen from both directions; otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipate.

9. Speeding around corners is a straight road to the hospital. Don't race past a stopped street car. Some day the jury may call it manslaughter.

10. Use discretion. The fact that you had the right-of-way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all yourself.

CHARM OF ENSENADA IS WITHIN EASY REACH OF SOUTHLAND'S MOTORISTS

West Coast Seaport Is Destined to Become Playground of Those Who Seek to Enjoy Romance of Former Days

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
" . . . like stout Cortez, when with eagle eyes
He stared at the Pacific—and all his men
Looked at each other with a wild surmise,
Silent, upon a peak in Darien."

From Glendale to Ensenada by automobile!—and not a puncture, no motor trouble, not a mishap to mar the 500 mile round trip. When this incomparable journey to the land of the padres and pirates is better known, its fears will vanish, and that little jewel, mounted in one of the world's most majestic harbors, will become the playground of Southern California.

Mexico, always a land of romance, mystery and opportunity, holds within her wide confines no territory more romantic, mysterious and opportune than Baja California, as Lower California is called by the natives, to distinguish it from the Golden State, which is known to them as Alta California. Strange that today Baja California should still be almost as little known as in the time of Fernando Cortez, who discovered the peninsula in 1535 and claimed it for the Spanish crown, believing it to be an island, as it was regarded as late as 1721, when it was so shown on an English map.

At Open Car Cost ESSEX COACH

Built by Hudson

Genuine Balloon Tires

Standard Equipment

The outstanding buying choice this year is "Closed Car Comforts at Open Car Cost." The Coach alone provides them. It is exclusive to Hudson and Essex. Everyone knows it gives highest closed car value. And because no other type or car shares its position it is the largest selling 6-cylinder closed car in the world.

Genuine Balloon Tires Enhance World's Greatest Value

Naturally when balloon tires had established their superiority Hudson and Essex would adopt them. They are now standard equipment. They add an even greater measure of riding ease, steadiness and good looks to the notable values of the Coach.

In workmanship, materials and design both Hudson and Essex are of one quality—built in the same factories, under the same patents. Your choice between them will rest solely on the price you want to pay.

You see the Coach everywhere in increasing numbers. Everyone wants closed car comforts. They will no longer accept half-utility when all-year usefulness and comforts cost no more in the Coach.

Consider how the growing trend to closed cars affects resale values. The diminishing demand for open cars means far faster depreciation in that type. As the wanted type, the Coach maintains exceptionally high resale value.

od to add even longer life to the wrist-pin bearings. "Improvements that make the oiling system as near perfection as is mechanically possible have been included. These are a check valve which insures the oil pump holding its prime under all conditions, and a suction pipe lead so placed that it will catch the oil even when the car is on a considerable angle, thus totally eliminating any chance of the oiling system pumping air even under the most extreme conditions. Other Features "Extra care is being used to perfectly balance both the engine and the clutch. Both are given static and dynamic balance before assembly. Rubber bumpers are placed over both the front and rear axles. These assist in taking up extremely bad road shocks which otherwise might result in a broken spring leaf. "The same complete equipment, with several refinements, is included on the sport and de luxe models. These are equipped with nicked double bar bumpers in front and nicked fender guards in the rear. Aluminum trunk rails of special design are backings for the new metal trunk. This has a gracefully rounded top, is black enameled to match the fenders and is equipped with two heavy nicked catches and locks. Other equipment includes rear view mirror, motorometer, disc wheels, aluminum scuff plates, nickel robe rails and on the open sport models, windshield wings.

HEADS SALESMEN IN LOCAL AGENCY

Syd Lambert New Executive Of Maxwell, Chrysler Dealers Here

"Several factors influenced me in reaching a decision to locate in Glendale and to form a connection with the Glendale Motor Car company as sales manager," says Syd Lambert, who joined the local Maxwell and Chrysler distributors, 124 West Colorado street, the first of this month. "One of these was the fact that the firm was selling Chrysler and Maxwell cars; another was that I had long had my eye on Glendale as a place to make my home; but the main factor was that the reputation of the firm and of Lyman P. Clark, its president, was known to me as that of a concern and a man that realized and exercised their responsibility to the public.

Mr. Lambert, before coming to Glendale, had been for fourteen years connected in responsible executive positions with some of the leading automobile firms in the southwest. Before coming to the coast he had received a number of flattering offers from other concerns, but his inspection of other southern cities and firms led him to associate himself with his present concern.

He has already enlarged the sales force and is considering still further additions to it, to include only top-notch salesmen who will make their homes in Glendale, as he himself is doing, and as he believes every employee of the firm should also do.

"Glendale offers a wonderful market for cars of the type handled by the Glendale Motor Car company," he declares, "and we intend to build up an organization here that will be worthy of the city and of the cars we sell."

Studebaker Dealer Enjoys Arrowhead Lake for Summer Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Packer, who, with their eighteen-month-old son and the latter's nurse, have just returned from a two weeks' stay at Arrowhead lake, boast that their Studebaker Big Six took the heavy grades to the mountain resort with the ease that can only be expected of a Studebaker. Mr. Packer admits that his boost for the Studebaker is based somewhat on the fact that he is a member of the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, the local distributors of these cars.

Mr. Cole stated that Saturday's business was by far the largest one day's business he has enjoyed since last year at Christmas time. The occasion is a new account drive for the month of August, and is a sale instituted to place a large number of names upon the books of the jewelry firm and, according to Mr. Cole, it has been a wonderful success.

ENSENADA LURES MOTOR TOURISTS

Mexican Seaport Has Charm That Appeals Strongly To Americans

elaborate resort on the site. Hunting, fishing and the attractions of a large casino will lure thither the better class of American tourists, Mr. Blanchard believes.

In Ensenada the Beach hotel was the headquarters of the party, a very satisfactory establishment, run by a Los Angeles woman in a competent manner. There are two or three other hotels in the town where Americans could not complain, among them the Hidalgo, named after Padre Miguel Hidalgo, who in 1780 founded the mission of San Vicente Ferrer in latitude 31 degrees 19 minutes north, longitude 116 degrees 15 minutes west.

Mixed Population Ensenada is a town of 2500 inhabitants, made the capital of Distrito Norte in 1887, when the Mexican government divided the peninsula into two political entities. Of this population perhaps 100 are Americans, English and Germans. The remainder are Mexicans, Indians and Chinese.

The town boasts about twenty cantinas, or saloons, as many restaurants and some ten grocery and general stores, each with its own peculiar charm. The party was delightfully entertained by the American consul, James Hope, and by his deputy, Clifford R. Power, Jr., a young man who is a student at Leland Stanford university, and whose father is the leading physician there.

The party was also most agreeably entertained by El Capitán Angula of the Mexican navy at an informal dance aboard a torpedo boat of that nation, lying in the harbor. Among the many other pleasurable experiences was a visit to the rancho of an Englishman named Smith, who has been a resident of Lower California for thirty-three years and has performed such miracles with fruit trees that he has lately been commissioned by the Mexican government to pass on some of his knowledge to native ranchers of the peninsula. His holdings, some over one afternoon, were found to of cold-chisel material, extra thick, in double rows; hubs are cupped sledge hammers. Tires are balloon style, except there's no wind, it's solid iron covered with a casing. "Total weight of the Willy-Nilly (without tools and jack) is twenty-five tons. Runs, looks and smells like an ordinary touring tripper. Women who in turning wearily present three and a half fingers to exhibit the manicure and ring, will be wearing a new running board next week. Cars with a big road spread will be neatly trimmed of all close-in fenders, lamps and such. Cars having a tendency to nose others going in the same direction of the highways and into the rough, will have their middles and rears adjusted to meet requirements.

Traffic Goblin Cross-town petting parties, one-hand and Willie-in-the-lap drivers, who angle, swerve and slur thither and yon, on the bias, fluted and accordion-pleated, will get what happens. Whether you irritate the road, chin lifted, in a sedan or carry water for a leaky Lizzie, they will all look alike to Willy-Nilly, the traffic goblin, who will get you if you don't look out."

Employment for July Shows Marked Decline

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Employment in manufacturing industries during July decreased 4 per cent, while payroll totals decreased 7.8 per cent and per capita earnings decreased 4 per cent, the department of labor announced today, basing its figures on reports from 8779 establishments in fifty-two industries, covering 2,489,347 employees, whose total earnings in one week in July were $60,520,288. The same establishments in June had 2,592,712 employees and total payrolls of $65,641,420.

be in a high state of development and proved a revelation.

People Are Friendly At every turn the populace demonstrated a sincere friendliness and a desire to learn the progressive ways of the Americans. One of the amusing daily occurrences was the posting of the guard by the local garrison, on the sidewalk in front of which one dared not walk. And starting at 5 o'clock in the morning, weird bugle calls would sound and there would echo across the sleepy air the rattle of Mausers.

One morning the party was piloted by this writer down onto the sandy beach and whirled up that graceful arc for seven miles at fifty-five miles an hour, to the "Shark Farm," where a nine-foot shark was caught, after which bathing was enjoyed. And to walk up that beach by moonlight! Or sit on the broad hotel veranda, sipping things, and dream out over that matchless sheet of water, ever breeze-ruffled and eternally dotted with the bobbing lights of little yachts!

But Ensenada is a mere speck on the vast surface of Baja California, exceeding by 100 miles the length of the Italian peninsula which produced the civilization of ancient Rome and today is the home of a world power. In calling the Gulf of California the Adriatic of the west, and in likening the peninsula to their beloved Italy, the Jesuit padres made an excellent general comparison, both as to health, wealth and beauty.

Turn Home Again The party enjoyed every moment of the four-day stay and pulled out with regret at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, August 16, just as the yachts from the Los Angeles and San Diego yacht clubs began dropping anchor in the beautiful harbor, where they were assembling for their annual regatta, as a culmination of the maneuvers off the south Pacific coast of the United States.

Since the first True Blue Oakland saw the light of a salesroom, a little less than a year ago, more than forty thousand have been delivered and have made good on every road in America.

Back of the True Blue Oakland were years and years of six-cylinder experience.

And back of it also were instructions to design the best medium weight six that ever nosed its radiator into traffic.

No ordinary six would do—plenty of them already! Advanced, unhampered, engineering thought produced a car that leaped to leadership!

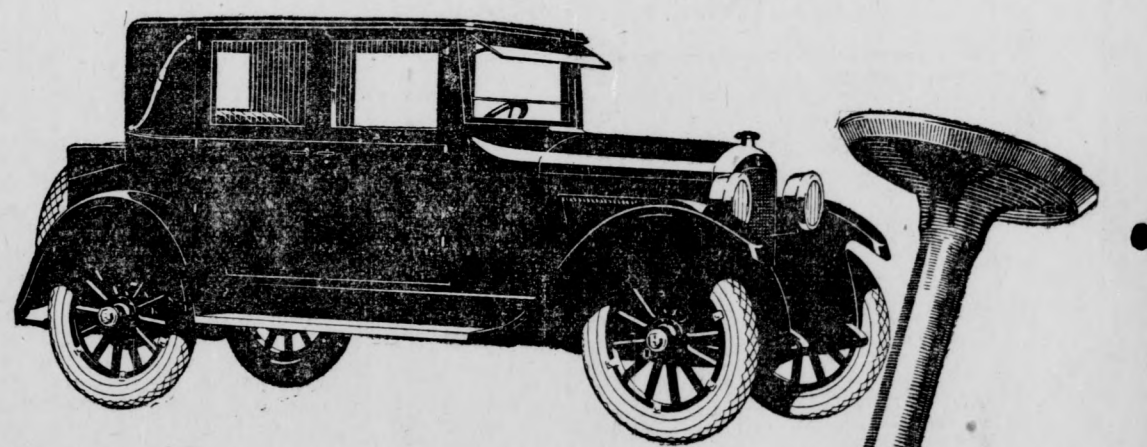

A year in advance of its field a year ago—refinements have been added from time to time to keep it so.

The True Blue Oakland fulfills the Oakland determination to build one of the world's very finest motor cars.

If you intend to spend around a thousand dollars—see and drive the Oakland before you decide.

A Combination That's Hard to Beat A "MOON" and a "Home in Glendale"

The MOON is not only one of the most beautiful of cars,—but it is one of the BEST and MOST ENDURING of automobiles.

When you get a MOON you secure a car of STANDARD Parts, an auto of quality, through and through,—as well as the following superior features:

—New Moon four-wheel hydraulic brakes. As far ahead of mechanical brakes as is the air brake on a horse car. They work noiselessly, positively, and practically never need lubrication.

—Genuine balloon tires. The big, thick, flexible tire on the new, sturdy, low disc wheel. Don't let any one persuade you to buy a compromise tire on the old stock wheel—distinctly not 1925 practice.

—New steering mechanism designed especially for greater leverage. Makes child's play of driving. And just as necessary as the balloon tires themselves for perfect ease in driving.

—The famous Red Seal Continental Motor, made exclusively to Moon design. With four main bearings and forced feed lubrication. Any small motor with less than four main bearings is behind the times.

BUYERS TURN TO ENCLOSED TYPES

Kelley Predicts Activity
In Closed Cars as Fall Approaches

"Why pay higher prices for closed car comfort when you can buy a closed car at open car prices?" asks Porter A. Kelley, of the Kelley Motor Co., 816 South Brand boulevard, Hudson and Essex distributors.

"The Essex Coach, one of the revolutionary advances in automotive construction," he says, "offers all the advantages of the closed car model at the cost of an open car, and besides the additional luxury of the closed car the owner of an Essex Coach has the knowledge that he has a power plant under the hood that has placed the Essex in the front rank of six-cylinder cars today, from a sales point of view, and that shows what the motorists of the country think of the Essex."

"The Essex Coach carries balloon tires as standard equipment, which adds still further to the riding comfort of the machine."

With the approach of the fall and winter Mr. Kelley declares that buyers are paying more attention to closed models and that the market for these types will show a remarkable activity within the next few months.

AGENCY SECURES TIRE FRANCHISE

New Establishment to Sell
Federal Line Through
This Territory

East Colorado street will greet the entrance of another automobile tire establishment today. The Glendale Tire Service, 306 East Colorado street, opened its doors today with a complete line of tires, tubes and accessories. It has the franchise for Glendale for the famous Federal tires and tubes and expect to build up a healthy business on these lines.

R. B. Coogan and J. J. Hinds of Los Angeles are the proprietors of the new business and they both have spent many years in the tire and allied business, having handled Federal tires for twelve years prior to coming to Glendale. All new equipment is being rapidly placed in the building and tire and tube vulcanizing and retreading will be an important branch of their business. They will specialize on balloon tire retreading and repairing.

The new mid-season models of Jewett cars are now on display at the sales room of Ralph B. Bliss, 219 West Colorado boulevard. They are most striking in appearance, with the finish in lotus blue with crimson stripings. Some are autumn green with orange stripings. All models have balloon tires and standard equipment.

A new member has been added to the Jewett family. It is the five-passenger sport brougham, and has made an instantaneous appeal to the motoring public. The Jewett models now consist of standard touring, sport touring, business man's two-passenger coupe, standard brougham, sport brougham, standard sedan and sport sedan. This range of models gives the motorist a very varied assortment of body styles and prices.

OUT TO SURPASS FATHER'S RECORD

H. W. Smith Wants to Catch
More and Bigger Fish
Than His Dad

In an effort to beat the fishing record set by his father, C. L. Smith, Chevrolet dealer, Orange and Colorado street, Harry W. Smith, the general manager of the firm, is spending his vacation around Mammoth lakes, in the Bishop region, trying to lure more and bigger trout from the waters. He is accompanied by Mrs. Smith and by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merton of Los Angeles, and all four of them have registered solemn pledges that they will set C. L. Smith a mark to aim at for the next fishing season, at any rate.

In the territory immediately within easy motoring distance of their stopping place there are twenty-one lakes, all of which contain fish, but they will pay attention only to those that contain the real big ones. Meantime C. L. Smith is sitting back and smiling at the confidence of the ambitious younger people, who have the idea that they can go out and bring in a bigger creel full of fish than he can, who claims to know every fish in the lakes by their first names.

FINISH UNHARMED BY TRYING TESTS

Oakland Distributor Obeys
Sealed Orders Direct
From Headquarters

A curious crowd gathered around an Oakland touring car here Wednesday while a man tried his best to ruin the finish on the car. To the average motor car owner watching, the result was as much a mystery as the words unfolded after rubbing the famed Aladdin lamp. The tests were being made by John Neuschaeffer, Oakland distributor, of 420 East Colorado street.

A daub of lime cement was tossed on the car. The eyes of spectators widened and peered closely at the finish after a cloth had wiped away all traces of the cement—and left the finish in as good condition as at first. Not content, the selfsame man demonstrated, with reckless abandon, lighted a sheet of paper and allowed it to burn on the hood of the car.

A nervous little man who looked as though he would be afraid to wipe the heavy dust off his car lest he mar the varnish finish, gave an involuntary jump. But the flame melted away and the slight discoloration was wiped away, leaving the finish resplendent as before.

Obeys Sealed Orders

By this time the crowd was ready for any kind of test, and "any kind" of test was given. Hot tar was poured on the body and allowed to dry and then wiped off. Ammonia, eaked mud, boiling water and the chemical compound of a fire extinguisher were in turn applied, with no harmful effect on the body. The Oakland car was demonstrating its Duco finish.

These tests formed the third sealed order given to Mr. Neuschaeffer from the factory—one of the sealed orders to be opened each day during the week of August 18. What will the order be for tomorrow? The dealer does not know any more than you about it.

SETS PAGE WITH HUPMOBILE SALES

Sales of Hupmobile cars in Glendale are climbing steadily upward, according to H. V. White, 111 West Harvard street, local representative of H. W. Swanson, Hupp and Jordan dealers in this territory. With only one salesman to assist, Mr. White has piled up a lead on the parent territory of Hollywood and is setting his sights to better his lead still further.

"The new models of the Hupmobile," says Mr. White, "are proving one of the best drawing cards for motorists I have ever known. The big appeal in the Hupp, aside from its good looks, is the fact that motorists of experience know that the car is one of the biggest dollar-for-dollar values ever offered, and it is a car that has borne this reputation for so many years that it has become axiomatic. Every part that goes into the construction of the Hupmobile is honest and is made with only one aim in view, to render the longest possible service to the owner at the lowest possible cost for maintenance. And, the owner knows that when he buys a Hupp he has a car that he can trust, to the limit."

Announce Formation Of Ethyl Gas Concern

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors corporation, announced today the organization of the Ethyl Gas corporation, a $5,000,000 concern.

The Standard Oil and General Motors are equal shareholders in the new corporation, it was stated, which will take over the present business of the General Motors Chemical company and will immediately undertake to increase the production and enlarge the distribution of the ethyl fluid, discovery of which was made by Charles F. Kettering and Thomas Midgley, Jr., of General Motors.

Walter P. Chrysler States

The motoring public is rapidly coming to realize that in practical results the good Maxwell is to the four-cylinder field, what the Chrysler is in six-cylinder practice.

Practically complete absence of vibration, sterling reliability, new ease of riding and driving, remarkable performance, and equally remarkable economy produce for the owner of this car a far higher degree of motoring satisfaction and value.

Until you know first hand what the good Maxwell now is and what it does—you are simply in no position to judge cars from the standpoint of the most recent development.

VERNON VICTORS AS PENNER HURLS

Beat Beavers 9-6 In Loosely
Played Game; All Bat
In Fourth Frame

By C. R. SIMMONS
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Tossing away an early, and under ordinary conditions a safe, lead, the Portland Beavers suffered defeat at the claws of the Vernon Tigers at Washington park yesterday, 9 to 6. But the contest was one of those not waged under ordinary conditions. Had it not been for the retaining fences the whole works might have suffered complete disintegration, it was so loosely played.

The Beavers figured they were sittin' pretty after the first frame, thanks to Vernon's poor fielding, by putting across four tallies. But not for long. Nine Tigers faced Jess Winters in the fourth inning. Three hits, three errors and a walk gave the Bengals three runs, and with one score in the second, tied things up. Vernon chalked up two more in the fifth, Portland likewise grabbing off a couple in the sixth making it 6 all. Penner who lasted the full time on the mound for the Tigers did his stuff in the seventh by driving in a run. Then for good measure Pete Schneider, Tiger outfielder, sent the pill out of the park, establishing a long-distance record, bringing in Blakesley ahead of him.

The veteran Harry Gardner replaced Winters in the seventh, but made way for Walter Leverenz after two sessions on the mound for Portland. All in all the national pastime was gloriously mistreated, but Penner worries, he got his twenty-first win of the season.

San Francisco again defeated the Sacramento Solons yesterday, 11 to 8. Three Senator pitchers failed to halt the slugging Seals. Sacramento gathered fourteen hits, but were too scattered to get the necessary results.

The Seattle Indians put on a war dance and walloped Oakland, 11 to 5. Defeat was charged to Boehler, but two other Oak twirlers shared in the trouncing.

The Bees and the Angels battled for fourteen innings in Salt Lake yesterday before the Angels succeeded in winning, 6 to 4.

The Dodgers, with Bill Doak in the box, won their third straight game from the Pirates, 3 to 2 in 11 innings. Brooklyn is now in third place, only two games behind Pittsburgh.

Santa Monica Elks Bowl Here Friday

Wichita Falls Club Buys Walter Golvin

Wichita Falls purchased Walter Golvin yesterday from the Los Angeles baseball club. Golvin played first base for the Angels for the past couple of seasons. The deal had been completed a month ago, but Manager Marty Krug had been holding back because Roy Grimes had not been obtained from the Cubs.

Golvin was a remarkable fielder but could not hit. His hitting average was around the .250 mark.

It was also learned yesterday that Arthur Weis, outfielder, had been resold to the Chicago Cubs by the Wichita Falls club of the Texas league.

NEED OF SPORTS FOR YOUTHS SEEN

City Boys Get Very Little Exercise Today, Claims
Physical Director

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 21.—Comes E. L. Vassar, physical director of the Polytechnic high school here, to declare that chinning the old horizontal bar is an art. Verily, it must be, for he says:

"At Poly high in a test among 300 boys there were 150 of them who failed to make a good showing due to their physical condition," Vassar declared. "However, at the end of the year only twenty-three who had previously failed showed up well. In fact, there were 270 out of the 300 who came through with a good record for the year."

Relative to the statement of Otto McFeeley, of Chicago, that youngsters of today cannot "chin themselves," and that they are not up to snuff where rigorous outdoor sports are concerned, Vassar said that the eastern philosopher is right in that youngsters need to work out more frequently.

"McFeeley is dead wrong when he made the statement that he couldn't find a boy in the last five years that could chin himself," Vassar points out.

Tests Upset Theory

Tests provided at Poly last year by Vassar included chinning, push up on parallel bars, high jump, basket ball throw for accuracy and 100 yard dash. Vassar has carefully compiled his findings and intimates that of the 300 boys in the first "chinning" tournament last year twelve of them couldn't pull up at all. In the final test three of the twelve couldn't pull up.

On the first test there were thirty who couldn't make one "chin" record, a later check indicated that eleven of the thirty could accomplish it. At the end of the year there were seven boys who could chin themselves twenty times. One hundred and fifty boys were found who could chin themselves more than ten times.

"The city boy of today gets very little exercise," Vassar maintains. "They get soft early and this is one reason why they are not so adept in outdoor and indoor sports. Boys arrive at school today in an automobile. The lad of fifteen years ago walked and perhaps did a number of chores before he struck out for the institution of learning. The old-time atmosphere is gone. A new and vigorous routine must be encouraged if the boy is to develop according to time-honored rudiments."

WILLIE FAILS TO STAGE COMEBACK

Ritchie Hopelessly Beaten
In Oakland by Youth;
Crowd Fades Out

OAKLAND, Aug. 21.—It was pitiful. Willie Ritchie stepped down from the glare last night into the dim. He failed to make a liar out of tradition that prohibits comebacks.

The referee had raised the hand of youth, Joe Simonich. There was nothing else to do. The former champion had made a most feeble attempt with a weak left and a right that lacked snap to prove to a public that is all Missouri that he could come back.

A crowd fed on hope that perhaps the comeback theory would be exploded began to file through the exits before the third round of their four-round match was over.

Simonich stepped to the attack at the bell and began a systematic mauling. He took every round, and that's all there is to it.

In the other bouts Dynamite Murphy won from Jack Burns; Dynamite George and Ernie Owens fought to a draw; Nick Newman won from Sammy Olsen; Eddie Roberts knocked out Sailor Smith in the first; Vic Morrison technically knocked out Joe Kelly in the third; Doc Snell won from Al Crisp and Terio Vargas beat Lou Richards.

Sport Expert Declares Play Of Miss Wills Better Than Last Spring

By WALTER CAMP
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Miss Helen Wills' play in the women's national singles is still being discussed by tennis enthusiasts. The young champion, in the writer's opinion, is faster, is more convincing than when she went abroad.

She still lacks sufficient strength in the body muscles not to feel the striding back and forth

This is unfair. She can and does rise upon her toes and has all the power in the world in the muscles of her lower leg, which enables her to play as much as the boys on the balls of her feet.

It might better be described, in comparison with Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, as striding across the court rather than springing from point to point. The French girl when at her best, seems to spring lightly like a cat, with her body entirely under control, whereas Miss Wills takes two or three long strides toward the sideline and has to make a marked effort to

This is also true when she comes to the net. And even at the moment of advancing she seems to be preparing to get back and having some effort to do it. There is no reason, with the strength and power she has, why she should not acquire muscular control of her body which would diminish the effort in court covering by at least 25 per cent.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Hilary felt a deep relief sweep over her. She dressed, a little later, for a morning down-town, sending no word to Dora, and making no attempt to see her. Dora's nearest and dearest disapproved of her, and it would not hurt her to know it.

The holiday reaction had set in; holly wreaths looked oddly out of date in the shops, and customers and saleswomen alike yawned and blinked wearily. But Hilary enjoyed poking about the snowy streets; she walked briskly, and the crisp air brought a bright glow to her cheeks. All night long she had been tossing and restless, worrying about Dora. Now the sun was shining again, and Craig was philosophical and strong; matters would somehow settle themselves, and life would go on.

She amused herself, in this unusual solitude and freedom, with a dream of what life would have been if she, Hilary, were Mrs. Craig Spaulding, and beautiful little Dora only making a visit to her sister. Hilary imagined her own pleasure and satisfaction in the power and dignity of such a position. How simple it would be to love a good and generous man, to make his home a charming and comfortable place; to fill the sunshiny old nursery with delightful babies; taking them to the quiet beaches, or to the big mountains for long, country summers; to be, in a word, what Mrs. Craig Spaulding should be, a worthy successor to all the good and honorable women who had worn the name. All this hysteria of dances, of artificial beauties, of late hours and of too much smoking and drinking and eating, led to these wretched complications; sex was always there, just under the surface, ready to work its usual mischief with the quiet course of life. And if this was Dora's point of view at twenty, what would Dora be doing at thirty, and at forty?

A tall man, with a foreign-looking coat buttoned tightly about his thin figure up to his big fur collar and smiling dark face, stopped her on a crowded street corner. She looked up, bewildered; then her whole face lighted. "Kronski!" she exclaimed, delightedly, holding out her hands. "I didn't know you were here! I knew that you were coming some time in January, but I hadn't seen anything more! When did you get in?"

For answer, still beaming at him, he uttered content, he drew out a big, round, old-fashioned gold watch, and showed her ten o'clock with a gloved thumb. Now the city's whistles were all shrilling for noon.

"What, just this morning?" the girl exclaimed. They had drawn a little apart from the crowd, and now again he grasped her hands. Hilary, with a vague recollection of the proprieties, attempted faintly to disengage her fur-lined gloves from his.

"Now, but why do you do that?" he asked, with his amazing implicity. "This is a friend's good hand I hold. Do you think I am so rich in friends? Yes, I am just from the boat," he told her. "I do not have any Christmas dinner. I don't eat on the boat. It is all too rich—it is meat, meat, meat. I don't like it, and so I will not eat it. I go to my hotel, he brings me a card. I see it is all the same. Beef, mutton, chicken—they are all alike! You know Norway! Ah, where I have been last summer—do you think I do not cook? Yes, I cook well!"

"That's sacrilege, you cooking!" Hilary protested. "Suppose you burned your hand?" she asked him. But immediately the maternal concern that was always uppermost, "Then you've not had any breakfast?" she demanded. She looked thoughtfully down the street for a second frowning and biting her lip. "If I can only remember—where was that?" she mused. And then briskly she nodded. "Come with me!"

"Ah, the good little mother, she says: 'I will take care of you, I will not let you suffer!'" Kronski said, delightedly. "But I am meeting my friend—Von Mandescheid, here at the bureau of the oculist!" he remembered suddenly.

"Who is Von Mandescheid?" Hilary asked. Kronski raised scandalized brows.

"Yes, that is the American lady," he said, impolitely. "She makes dresses, she talks all the time, and she does not know who is Von Mandescheid!"

Hilary had moments of bashfulness with other men. But this man had always seemed to her only a little boy. She looked at him reproachfully.

"Are you being saucy to me?" he asked, gaily.

"Yes, am being saucy!" Kronski said, pleased with a word that was somewhat unfamiliar to him.

ACTRESS SUCCUMBS

MADRID, Aug. 20.—Luiza Calderon, well known Spanish actress, died Wednesday.

"Well, tell me, then, who is Von Mandescheid?" the girl demanded.

"But he is the great kappelmester!" Kronski exclaimed, aghast at her ignorance. "Only he is now old, and he will do no more work. The war has made him a poor man. Seventy-eight years he has, and he is my good friend—my maestro, who put the hand in his pocket when Konrad Kronski was a dirty little boy with nothing in his belly, eh? So he comes to America with me, he works with me, and some day he shall try a concert here, and then you will see what a great conductor can be!"

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SAND PIE

There sounded one morning a taptap tap tap and a rattle and bang on the window of the driftwood cottage bungalow where Uncle Wiggily was staying for a time at the seashore.

"There's the Sand Flipper again!" cried Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, covering her eyes with her paws, for she didn't want to have to blink any tears away.

"No, it isn't the Sand Flipper," said Uncle Wiggily, looking out of the window.

"Then it's the Slippery Lobster!" said the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Wrong again!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It's Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the pigs. I guess they came down on a seashore excursion."

"What do they want?" asked Nurse Jane. "They shouldn't throw sand and gravel at the window that way. They might break it."

"Oh, I guess that won't happen!" chuckled Mr. Longears. And as he opened the door Curly and Floppy scrambled in with squeals of delight for they liked Uncle Wiggily.

"Come on down to the beach and play with us," grunted Floppy.

"We're going to help Baby Bunty make a sand pie," added Curly. "It is very kind of you to play with the little orphan rabbit girl."

Uncle Wiggily, "and I will go with you to see that she doesn't eat too much sand pie."

"Ho! Ho!" You don't eat sand pie!" laughed Floppy. "You just take some wet sand and put it in a big clam shell, and pat it down, and it looks like chocolate cake—but you don't eat it!"

"Oh, don't you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, just as if he didn't know. Oh, he was a teaser, that old rabbit gentleman was. A regular teaser!

"No, of course you don't eat sand pie!" and Curly roared with laughter. "But come on, please, Uncle Wiggily, and we'll help Baby Bunty make a lot of them."

Down on the beach the old rabbit gentleman, the little rabbit orphan girl and the kind piggy boys played and had fun. Uncle Wiggily didn't care if his whiskers were getting gray around the edges. His heart was still young.

He dug up wet sand for the children, he helped them pat it into some big clam shells that the piggies found on the beach. Baby Bunty put little crinkly edges around the edges of the sand in the shells.

"Oh, they look just like real pies, don't they?" she cried, clapping her paws in delight as she looked at the row of them. Uncle Wiggily was just digging up more sand, thinking the children might like to make a play house when, all of a sudden, up on the beach flopped the big, bad, old Walrus.

"Guff! Guff! Guff!" gurgled the Walrus, shaking his tusks. "I heard you speaking of pies. I'll eat all the pies you have and then I'll nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!" and most hungrily he looked at the bunny. Then the Walrus saw the row of clam shells with crinkly edges. "Oh, ho! So those are the pies, are they?" he roared, lumbering toward them. "Don't eat those!" cried Uncle Wiggily, holding up a paw. "Pooh! Do you think I'll mind you?" sneered the Walrus. "I'll

CREPE FOR WEDDINGS

PARIS, Aug. 21.—White satin crepe, in the season of crepes, is smart for wedding gowns. The wedding gown now is a bit less than ankle length, but the train and veil are long.

NOVEL HAT SHAPE

PARIS, Aug. 21.—One little black hat of haters' push shown here today is shaped, except for the tiny, upturned brim, like an inverted pail. Its trimming is three narrow rows of gold kid skin and a gold ostrich feather.

Answers to Correspondents

Massage
H. G.—Massaging helps stimulate the circulation and so is good for gaining or losing. However, if you want to develop your legs and arms, the best way is to do some special leg and arm exercises. No, the vegetable compound you mention would not help the disorder you speak of nor any other. See your physician. He will prescribe for you if you need medication.

Sixty Off and One Hundred to Go
Dear Doctor Lulu:—Please find enclosed s. a. s. e. and four cents in stamps, for which send pamphlet on reducing. I have already reduced about 60 pounds by your method, and feel fine. I am so happy and can do most any kind of work now. I did weigh 300 pounds and it sure was a burden. I am five feet, five inches tall, and am 32 years old, so I have a great deal to lose yet, but I will stick to it as it is not hard for me. I do a great deal of hard work and all my housework, with all my washing on the old-fashioned washboard; and I take care of a big garden, mow the lawn and do many other things. I have been looking long and wondering what I could do to reduce and I finally found out, thanks to you. I have three sisters who will start your method of reducing. Will write you later.—Mrs. M. T.

Yes, do write once a month, Mrs. T. Fat girls of 300 pounds are especially interesting to us. You are down now to 240—so you will have around 160 pounds to lose. It is generally considered best to go back to the maintenance diet for a week or so, after a reduction of from 40 to 60 pounds. As you are feeling so well, however, you must be getting the elements your system needs and only your terrible burden of fat is being ingested for your energy needs. Read the answer following your letter and go by it.

Foundation Reducing Diet
Mrs. S.—Perhaps you are exercising too strenuously and your muscles have not had time to accustom themselves to it. That is probably the reason for your being so sore and stiff. In your reducing diet, are you including the following: For a large share of your mineral elements and vitamins, a pound to a pound and one-half of vegetables (especially greens) part raw; one-half pound of fruit; for your protein, one pint of skim or buttermilk, two or three ounces of lean meat or fish or nuts or two or three eggs; for your carbohydrates, two average-sized potatoes or two slices of bread; for your fats, one level tablespoonful of butter. All of these foods amount to approximately 1,000 C. so if you go on a 1,200 C. diet, you still have 200 C. for something you like especially. Candy? M-m-m. Keeps up the longing—better not.

Asthma
Mrs. T.—We have recently had an article on eczema. The eczema on your ankle may be due to some reaction. Do you keep it covered constantly with some simple ointment?

Yes, undoubtedly the high, tight collars worn by your daughter help to make her asthma worse. Dietetic errors will cause asthma in susceptible people. You say she eats a great deal of salt. That's not wise. She should eat very little salt. She should have plenty of greens, fruit, whole-grain breads and cereals. In other words, natural foods. She must not overeat nor undereat. Sometimes asthma is due to the absorption of some of the invisible poisons that float in the air, such as certain grasses and flower pollens, dandruff of dogs and cats, rabbits and horses. Felt hats which have rabbit make-up in them will sometimes cause the spasms in susceptible people. Sometimes certain wools and feather pillows are the offenders.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Do not write me in care of the office, as they are not read. Please sign your name in full and do not use initials. Please do not write me in care of the office, as they are not read. Piccalilli: This is perhaps the most popular pickle in the world! And justly so; nothing tastes better with cold sliced meats, hash, and baked beans. To make it, chop fine one peck of green tomatoes, then add to them one-half pint of salt. Let stand overnight, and in the morning drain off the juices which have accumulated. Put through your food chopper the following vegetables: six small peeled onions, and one large bunch of celery with leaves removed. Add these two chopped vegetables to the tomatoes in the preserving kettle. Mix together two heaping cups of brown sugar, two teaspoons of white pepper, one tablespoon each of ground cinnamon and allspice, one teaspoon of dry mustard (more if liked) and add this dry mixture also to the preserving kettle, with two quarts of cider vinegar. Cook slowly all day—until the tomatoes are very soft. (Sliced or grated horseradish may also be added, in the proportion liked, desired.) Turn while hot into hot, sterilized glass jars and seal airtight at once.

Spiced Red Tomato Pickle: Scald and skin 20 pounds of ripe, red tomatoes, then cut them into medium-sized pieces and place them in the preserving kettle with two quarts of cider vinegar, eight pounds of brown sugar, four tablespoons each of ground cinnamon and allspice and two table-spoons of ground cloves. ## Wedding at Home

Miss Marie Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Jenkins of 859 Fifty-first place, Los Angeles, and Harold H. Venske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Venske of 317 North Louise street, were united in marriage Wednesday, August 20, 1924, at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. J. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church of Glendale.

The Jenkins home had been artistically decorated with arrangements of summer flowers and greenery. Only immediate relatives of the bride and groom were in attendance at the ceremony. Miss Jenkins wore a beautiful dark blue fall suit with corsage of red roses and fern.

After the ceremony a reception was held and later Mr. and Mrs. Venske left by automobile for a trip north. Upon their return they will make their home at Palo Alto, Cal.

Mr. Venske is a well known Glendalian, having lived here with his parents for a number of years. He is a graduate of the local high school and will complete his senior year at the Stanford university this year.

Mrs. Venske has resided in California with her parents for four years and made her home in Los Angeles for the past two years. She is a graduate nurse, having received her training in Kansas City, Kansas.

For Miss Walters

Sharing honors as hostesses Mrs. F. E. Wilkes and Mrs. George Phillips entertained yesterday afternoon at the Wilkes home at 610 East Chestnut street, complimentary to Miss Hazel Walters, who will be married August 28 to Clarence McMillan.

It was a vanity shower. Miss Walters being presented with lovely silk hose.

Games were diversions of the afternoon. Violin, piano and vocal music was also enjoyed, with Miss Evangeline Quackenbush, Mrs. Stanley Walker, Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Ruth Sunkes and Mrs. Margaret Braden, entertaining.

The golden shade of autumn was emphasized in the decorations, golden glow and dahlias being used by the hostesses. This same color was seen in the appointments of the refreshments served.

The gifts for the honoree were presented by little Shirley Wilkes, who is to be the flower girl at the wedding next week.

Those invited to honor Miss Walters were Mesdames Stanley Walker, Ruth Sunkes, Margaret Braden, J. A. Quackenbush, N. H. Palmer, Mrs. Walters, O. S. Palmer, R. J. Perkins, R. W. Le Melle, B. T. Sherbon, Annie V. Talling, Nina Ashton, Misses Marjorie Ashton and Evangeline Quackenbush.

Plan Card Party

The second of the series of mid-summer card parties which are being given under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club will be held Thursday afternoon, August 28, at 2 o'clock in the clubhouse corner of Central avenue and Lexington drive.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. Ernest Karr. They will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Abbey, guest-freshment chairman, and Mrs. F. S. Card, publicity chairman.

Tables will be arranged for bridge and five hundred. A cordial invitation is extended to club members and all women of Glendale.

Club Luncheon

The Glen Eyrie Social club luncheon held yesterday at the Masonic Temple proved to be a most enjoyable affair. Time was devoted to a sewing for the children's hospital. Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock to about fifty members. A short business session was held during the afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Edward Kretchner, in charge.

Among those who assisted Mrs. Grace Lamb, general chairman of the luncheon, were Mesdames Ella Hickman, Margaret Whittaker, George Marek and Anna Fife.

Beach Outing

Mrs. Warren Roberts, worthy high priestess of Osum Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, announces that a special Pacific Electric car will leave the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard, at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Santa Monica, where the Shrine members and guests will enjoy an outing. The car returning home will leave the beach at 11 o'clock. Those who have not already made their reservations are asked to call Mrs. Clytelle Hewitt at Glendale 203-J by Friday noon.

Anniversary

The celebration of the third anniversary of the Glendale Camp, Royal Neighborhood of America, will be the feature of the camp's regular meeting Friday night, August 22, which will be held in the K. P. hall, Park avenue and South Brand boulevard. There will be a number of visitors from Azusa, Monrovia, Pasadena and Covina. After a short business session, refreshments will be served and a general good time enjoyed. All members and visiting neighbors are urged to be present.

News of Wedding

The marriage of Miss Winifred Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bacon of 3802 Revere avenue, Los Angeles, to Rollo Ott, son of Mrs. Eva Marquet of Hollywood, took place at 8:30 o'clock last night, Wednesday, August 20, 1924, at the Bacon home, with Rev. George McDougall, Episcopal rector of Hollywood, officiating. A company of relatives and close friends composed the wedding company.

Asters and carnations in pink and white were used in profusion in decorating for the wedding. Before the hour for the ceremony Miss Esther Parsons of Glendale, accompanied by Miss Alberta Boling, sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dinning" (Caden). Later, Miss Boling played the Lohengrin bridal chorus.

In the bridal party were Miss Bacon's two sisters and brother, Alice Mae Bacon, in dainty frock of pale pink organdy, and carrying a basket of pink sweetpeas, as maid of honor, Miss Regina Bacon, wearing orchid georgette and carrying an arm bouquet of orchid sweetpeas to match her gown. Francis Bacon was best man.

Miss Bacon, in white satin wedding gown, with long veil held by a wreath of orange blossoms, and carrying a shower of pale pink roses, entered with her father. Assisting Mrs. Bacon in receiving were Mesdames Frances B. Cash and Oswald Meighn of Glendale.

After the ceremony, congratulations were extended the young couple and later the bride's cake was cut and served with ice cream. Mr. and Mrs. Ott left at a late hour for honeymoon trip. For traveling Mrs. Ott was attired in yellow and white sport outfit. Upon their return in two weeks they will be at home to their friends at 4511 Russell avenue, Hollywood, where Mr. Ott is connected with the Payne Nursery company.

The wedding is of wide interest in Glendale, for Mrs. Ott has resided in Glendale for several years. She was born in England and came to this country at an early age. She is a graduate from the local grammar school, high schools. Since her graduation from high school she has been in the employ of the Union Oil company.

Shower Affair

One of the week's most enjoyable informal social affairs was given last night by Miss Dorothy Dutton at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dutton, 1503 South Glendale avenue, when she entertained with a miscellaneous shower, complimenting her cousin, Miss Evelyn Ashman of South Glendale avenue, who will be the bride of Edward Moniot of 414 West Los Feliz road, early in October.

The Dutton home was attractively decorated with arrangements of lavender and pink flowers. The evening was devoted to games, music and a general good time. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served. The bride and groom, pink color scheme were served.

Many lovely gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a wishing well. Miss Dutton was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sister, Mrs. W. W. Dutton, Mrs. R. L. Burson and Miss Leona Hibbert and Mrs. James Lyons.

The guests included Misses Linda Goetz, Cecilia Myers, Mildred Myers, Roma Stoppel, Lois Mock, Doris Hall, Annie Miller, Leona Hibbert, and Mesdames Tina Hammond, Margaret Hibbert, Cora Dutton, Della Hapgood, Cora Snyder, Hattie Tiffany, Fred Spears, Dora Hall, James Lyons, Robert Burson, W. W. Dutton, Eloise Johnson, E. Moniot, Susie Peek, E. H. Dutton, Al Moniot, and the honor guest, Miss Evelyn Ashman.

Work For Bazaar
Work on articles for the fall bazaar occupied the time yesterday at the meeting of the Elceta Social club with Mrs. Georgia Lambie of 460 West Doran street. Mrs. Lillie Lynd was assisting hostess. Chairmen of the various activities for the bazaar are formulating plans and had on hand yesterday afternoon work to be done. The club will meet again in two weeks, the place of meeting to be announced within a few days.

Luncheon Guests

Mrs. Rosella Strother entertained a group of friends informally yesterday at luncheon home, 333 West California. Her guests were Mesdames Viola Er-tel, C. C. Coghlin, Evelyn Hall, Sadie Bronnenberg, Winnie Hartley, Ed Myers, Mabel Goodfellow, Frances Shadbolt, Henry Hollenbeck, Clara Fry and Miss Katherine V. Sinks.

Hosts at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Delgado of 1133 San Rafael street were hosts last night at a delightful dinner party when they entertained, complimenting Mrs. E. J. Vesper and daughter, Miss N. Hyland of Chicago, mother and sister of F. H. Vesper of 321 East Lomita avenue. Covers were laid for the honor guests and Mr. and Mrs. E. Vesper, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Naudin, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Delgado, Miss Katherine Delgado and the host and hostess.

More than 650 species of land birds are found in Costa Rica.

CLAIMS AMERICA LEADS IN CRIMES

Jurist Blames Indifference
Of Public for Growth In
U. S. Outlawry

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Lax enforcement of the criminal laws is not responsible for making the American people the most lawless in all civilization. This is the opinion expressed today by Judge Alfred J. Talley, of the Court of General Sessions, which deals with much of the criminality of New York City. Judge Talley has taken the liberty of pleading guilty for the American people to the charges laid against them.

The very indifference of the people to crimes and to criminals, the jurist believes, is at the root of the evil. Judge Talley also says that the American murder record, which can not be approached by any other nation, is but an index to the American crime record in other directions. In burglaries and highway robberies, to say nothing of simple larceny, the United States so far outstrips its sister countries of the world that there is no second.

Mawkish Sentiment
Maudlin, mawkish sentiment toward criminals, the tendency to make heroes and martyrs of them, the flocking of women to court rooms to see some handsome young wife killer—these tendencies of the American people are credited by the criminologists with helping to make crime attractive rather than repugnant, especially to the young people of the day.

When Judge Talley told one of the new judges on the bench with him a few days ago that he would be heartbroken to find that most of the criminals arraigned would be lads of 18 or 19, he spoke from the wisdom of long experience. In the state of New York, all first offenders under 30 years of age go to a reformatory. Yet the records show that one half of all inmates of Sing Sing prison are under 25. Eighty-seven per cent are under 30. Judge Talley said today he was very glad none of the American lawyers recently attending the Bar Association meeting in London had been called upon by their English brothers to explain these appalling statistics.

War Not to Blame
There is no longer a disposition on the part of the students of crime to attribute the present "wave" to the World War. Most criminals of today were at their mothers' knees during the war. They were not the "men of the trenches" who had become steeped in the art of killing.

The tendency today is to search the homes for conditions which lead more children to the criminal courts. Neglect or contempt of religious training, physical or moral defects, hatred of honest work, a desire for an "easy living," the comparative ease with which children obtain moonshine and other liquors; these and other easily traced causes help in a measure to explain the terrifying growth of crime.

The difficulty is that "no one seems to care." The coming campaign will find thousands of "spell binders" who had been told that what a grand and glorious country they live in. Not one will deal with a problem regarded by the men who come in contact with it, as one of the gravest the country ever faced. President Roosevelt often preached on the subject. Judge Talley today quoted a statement by Chief Justice Taft, made four or five years ago. In it, he said:

"The trial of a criminal case seems like a game of chance with all the chances in favor of the criminal, and if he escapes, he seems to have the sympathy of a sporting public."

Country's Average
Judge Talley said he wanted the people of the country to know that in making his charges about crime he was not indicting New York City. The record here is far above the average of the country. Although slayings appear common enough on the streets and in the boulevards of the metropolis, the percentage to the population of the greater city is quite small. For the past ten years the homicide rate for the entire country was 7.2 per 100,000. In New York it was but 5.5. Chicago's rate is 12.7. In the popular mind New York and Chicago would be regarded as two of the wickedest cities in the country, but the statistics do not bear out any such surmises. Washington, the capital city of the nation, tops Chicago in the killing line with a rate of 13.3 per 100,000.

Judge Talley's own solution calls for a better training of children in the homes and justice that will be prompt, adequate and final. The courts are doing their best, he declares, but without the co-operation of the citizen they can get nowhere. He cited many cases in which jurors have deliberately flouted the testimony in a case, and released a prisoner who unquestionably was guilty. Judge Talley describes this as a reaction in the jury box of the general spirit of lawlessness that pervades the country.

COMMENT That's All

A Question Of Mercy
Concealed Weapons
The "Unloaded" Menace
Flyers Dare Fates

By Gil A. Cowan
An aged man, suffering from hydrophobia, became a raving, incurable maniac in his cell in a West Virginia city jail yesterday. Surgeons suggested that he be chloroformed, but the mayor would not permit that act of mercy. Perhaps, rightfully so. But to the thousands of readers of news dispatches over the International News Service leased wire there arose the questions: Would it be better to chloroform the man than let him suffer? Which was the lesser of two evils?

Only God in His wisdom could answer the question. Yet there are many who purport to know His wisdom and say the nay, while others take an opposing view.

Personally the writer commends the surgeon for his merciful suggestion. And at the same moment one cannot censure the judgment of the mayor.

Had the mayor been the doctor and the doctor the mayor, each would likely have held opposite views.

Another gunman ran amuck in Los Angeles yesterday, killing a policeman and shooting bystanders. Guns, particularly those which may be carried concealed, are more than dangerous. They should be limited in manufacture, more limited in permission to use, and then should be used only in the gravest emergency.

Too many people "tote" guns. In Oklahoma recently two strangers met. They didn't like each other's looks, it is said. So they "shot it out." Both died. A good riddance, maybe; but why were they permitted to be at large carrying deadly weapons?

A federal law should be enacted making the possession of a revolver or other small arm illegal except for those specifically permitted to carry them on police authority.

And the history of every gun should be kept with the accuracy of a criminal record. They are not the playthings for everyday people and particularly those who are liable to make misuse of them.

Speaking of guns reminds the writer of service in the army. No less than thirty pistols, revolvers and automatics were in custody for use when needed—and the occasion came when they all were actually needed.

But what, what importance, was placed in handling those weapons and the ammunition therefor. When they went out on duty the guns were in perfect order. And the first thing done when they returned was to unload them.

Yet the "unloaded gun" is most dangerous. When you see a person toying with a revolver in your presence, ask to see that it is unloaded. Never take a chance with a gun, or gunman.

The American army fliers on their epoch-making globe-girdling flight are daring fate today. The ultimatum had gone forth that they must start for Greenland or fly without the naval convoy, for the latter is short of fuel and endangered by Arctic seas.

Certainly the world flight has been no mean adventure. Over the expanse of the Pacific safely, outriding the storms of the China sea, successfully navigating the uncharted wilds of India, flicking through the fogs of the Atlantic, and now—

Will they succeed? It is only to hope that they do!

CARNIVAL PERMIT FOR BOY SCOUTS

Hot Dog Concession Granted
To Troop; Freckles to Bring Awards

TUJUNGA, Aug. 21.—Hot Dog! Boy Scouts will be shouting "hot dog" during the coming Moon Festival of the Tujungans, August 31 to September 1, according to arrangements made by A. J. Scribner, commander of Post 250, American Legion, which is sponsoring the celebration. Space on the carnival grounds will be allotted the Boy Scouts, and they will feed the hungry pleasure seekers who are expected to visit Tujunga's annual summer carnival.

Not only that, but the boy who has the most freckles on display during the run of the festival will receive a fine prize from the Legion. There is a chance for the boys who have freckles to make something out of them. Patterson's market, Tujunga drug store, Reim's market and Brunner's jewelry shop have purchased blocks of tickets for the queen contest and are giving ten votes with each 50-cent purchase.

Fire-Swept Steamer Reaches Canal Harbor

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—After being threatened with destruction in a fire raging for five days, the American-Hawaiian freighter Mexican has limped into the canal zone badly gutted, according to wireless messages received here. Damage was estimated at $75,000.

BUSINESS BLOCK BRINGS BIG SUM

Eagle Rock Property Bought
By Detroit Woman for
$27,500, Is Report

EAGLE ROCK, Aug. 21.—One of the major real estate operations of the year has been consummated in the sale of the business block on Colorado boulevard, adjoining the Eagle Rock Drug company, to Mrs. Maris M. Fritz of Detroit, Mich. James Ferdon is the seller. The deal was handled through Page Noll and W. R. Denman. The cash consideration is reported to be $27,500.

Walter S. Gates, who resides at 5239 North Highland View avenue, Eagle Rock, with his wife and two sons, is a candidate for judge of the Superior court of Los Angeles county to fill the unexpired term of Louis W. Myers, who is judge of the Supreme court.

Mr. Gates has been a resident of Eagle Rock for three and a half years. He is a native of California, having been born at La Verne, near Pomona, Calif. He attended the public schools of La Verne and Los Angeles, and later the high school at LaCede, Mo. He entered the University of Southern California, law department, where he graduated in 1913.

Practice Since 1911
In 1911, he was admitted to practice on examination before the Appellate court of the second district, and since August, 1913, he has continued to practice law in partnership with James D. Randles, under the firm name of Gates & Randles. They now have their offices at 418, Bank of Italy Building, Los Angeles.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are inviting the people of Eagle Rock to hear Don Tyler of the Franklin high school, give his famous speech on the Constitution that won the prize in the national contest at Washington, D. C. Mrs. A. G. Rely has offered the use of her garden at 1750 Colorado boulevard, for the occasion. The Boy Scouts and Girl Reserves are asked to attend in uniform. The date set is Tuesday, August 26, 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

H. A. Rasch and R. M. Osterhout were pleasantly surprised by the arrival of George R. Clemens, an old college friend. Mr. Clemens is a graduate civil engineer of the University of Michigan and is now teaching surveying at Detroit college.

CITIES TO ENTER AUTOS IN PARADE

Opening of Valley Festival
To Be Marked by Big
Floral Display

BURBANK, Aug. 21.—Every town and city in the San Fernando valley, from Glendale to Owensmouth, will be privileged to enter decorated cars in the mammoth parade to be held in Burbank on September 9, to herald the Industrial exposition opening there on that day and continuing until September 13.

Announces Manager J. W. Charleville of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the affair is being promoted. All factories in the valley may enter exhibits as well. Mr. Charleville states. Liberal prizes will be offered for the best decorated automobiles and the best exhibits in many classes. One of the most expensive exhibits so far registered, he states, is a $50,000 pipe organ from the Robert Morton manufactory in Van Nuys.

The $100 diamond ring has been purchased to be presented to the young woman who receives the highest number of votes in the contest for the selection of a queen, according to Mr. Charleville. Her crowning will feature the afternoon program of the opening day, but the queen will rule with a firm hand throughout the five days and nights, supported by her maids of honor chosen from the several valley cities.

Each day's program will be supplied by the Chambers of Commerce of the several cities, Burbank and Glendale being joint entertainers the first day, and Hollywood and Lankershim the second. San Fernando and Van Nuys the third, the valley at large the fourth, and the Southern California Association of Commercial secretaries the fifth and last day.

F. B. Kelley, who has been sojourning in Burbank for the past six months, has left for his home at Elk City, Kansas. While here he invested in Burbank real estate. He says that he will probably be back next spring.

Gambling Row Leads To Fatal Shooting

OXNARD, Aug. 21.—L. G. Graham, 30, white, was shot and killed here yesterday by Irving Miller, negro, who, the authorities said, confessed the killing, which climaxed a quarrel over a card game.

nated to the committee by Jerry's Battery shop for use in any way they see fit, and it has been decided to sell the battery and give three prizes to the freckle-faced boys who display their physiognomies during the festival. First prize will be $10 or its equivalent value in something that boys like.

AGENTS DISPLAY ALL GRAY TYPES

W. H. Daniel Wins Prizes In
Packard Sale Contest
Over All Rivals

The Valley Motor company, 1129 South Brand boulevard, announces that it is now showing the complete line of the 1925 Gray, the "aristocrat" of small cars. The complete line consists of the five-passenger touring car, three-passenger coupe, five-passenger sedan and the one-ton truck. Albert J. Sullivan is sales manager of the organization, with W. H. Daniel as manager. The Valley Motor company is the distributor of the Gray motor car for the entire San Fernando valley.

W. H. Daniel, who is also manager of the Dixie Motor company, distributor of the Packard for Glendale, was the lucky winner of several prizes awarded to the Packard salesman showing more sales than his quota called for. Mr. Daniel was the only master salesman of California to win, and was awarded a fine gold pencil with his name, along with the name Packard, engraved on it. He also received a unique little pin fashioned in the shape of a Packard hub cap finished in silver, and also a genuine morocco leather loose-leaf notebook.

FANCY BRIDAL GIFT

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Among the gifts intended for an autumn bride is a set of "bath baskets." These baskets are crocheted in washable silk and fastened to the front of a big bath towel. The towel is hung over a rack and the basket filled with wash cloths, their edges crocheted to match.

FOR AFTERNOON GOWNS

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The hush is echoed in the long flounce of fringe at present decorating many afternoon gowns. This long silk fringe extends from waist to hem and often is black over a black satin slip.

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—Chinese factions are arming for civil war between Peking and Mukden, Manchuria, said a dispatch from Peking.

Artillerymen Locked Up Following Clash

HONOLULU, Aug. 21.—The entire personnel of Battery A, 55th U. S. Artillery, was confined to their quarters today as a result of a clash last night between the soldiers and civilians of the Kalihi district. Four persons are in hospitals, including one soldier who was in civilian clothes and was mistaken for a civilian. The soldiers from Fort Shafter are said to have organized the attack in retaliation for the alleged beating of soldiers by an organized gang in the Kalihi district. Stones were thrown and clubs were wielded in the fray, according to witnesses, who charged today that innocent bystanders and storekeepers were stoned and one small boy was struck down.

Guardian of Chinese Girl Asks Annulment

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 21.—Declared to be one of the strangest suits ever filed here, Mrs. Chong Yuen Thomas started action here today to annul the marriage of Rose Mary Yuen and Hom Yuen, Chinese who were married here July 11. Mrs. Chong Yuen Thomas is guardian of Rose Mary. The suit asks the union be annulled because Rose Mary was not 18 years old when she became a bride and did not have her guardian's consent to wed.
